Cooper Expected To Make Stronger Effort To Get Sales Revenue

OFFICIALS DISAPPOINTED AT YIELD FROM NEW LEVY

Considerable Shake-Up Made In Shreveport By New Revenue Head

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 4.—(P)—With the reorganization of the state welfare revenue division, announced today by W. A. Cooper, new collector, an intensive drive for the collection of the state's general sales tax is anticipated.

Cooper announced that Albert Ligon, who has headed the occupational license tax division since the state took over the collection of licenses from the sheriffs four years ago, would be in charge of a new division which would handle collections of occupational licenses and the public welfare revenue, commonly known as the "sales tax."

State officials are known to have been disappointed at the yield from the new levy which went into effect on July 1. The yield so far has been at the rate of approximately $5,400,000 a year, out of which the expenses of collecting the tax, leaving a net of about $3,000,000 for the board of public welfare and the state hospital board.

Howell Alexander, who has headed the public welfare revenue division, will remain in the new combined division.

Cooper announced a reorganization of the north Louisiana office of the department at Shreveport. J. L. Rucker, head of the office, and his secretary, Mrs. Arlene Holmebeck, were discharged and T. B. McGuire and Mrs. Inez Isom, who had been discharged by Rucker, were re-employed.

P. A. Bartmess, head of the income tax division, was sent to Shreveport to aid Sam J. Smith, auditor, in taking over the office and reorganizing it. Smith will be temporarily in charge and Bartmess will assist him, Cooper said.

Miss Alice Lee Grojean, who in private life is Mrs. W. A. Tharpe, wife of the secretary of the Louisiana tax commission, and who was displaced as collector of revenue yesterday when Cooper qualified, had not taken the oath of office as supervisor of public funds to succeed Cooper today. It was expected in capital circles that she would take over the office early next week.

The department of revenue collects approximately $50,000,000 taxes a year, about three-fourths the total collected in state taxes. For the work, the department is allowed approximately $1,500,000 a year from taxes collected. This allowance was raised by $50,000 at the 1938 session of the legislature.

ADMIRAL LEAHY MAY KEEP PLACE

President Considers Extending Term Of Navy Operations Chief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(P)—Administration quarters reported today that President Roosevelt, breaking with tradition, was considering extending the term of Admiral William D. Leahy as the navy's chief of operations.

If he followed custom, the president would select new professional heads of both the navy and army within a few months, in the midst of the nation's greatest peacetime arms expansion.

Plain spoken Admiral Leahy, frequently acting naval secretary and the navy's spokesman to congress when the billion-dollar fleet expansion act was approved, will reach the normal retirement age of 64 in May. General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, is scheduled to retire for age next August.

Because of an apparent legal oversight, the president is empowered to extend Leahy's services and thus is able to postpone a far-reaching change in the navy high command which would almost coincide with a lesser shifting of top army personnel.

Craig's retirement is legally mandatory, war department officials said.

BUSINESS UPTURN IN SPRING SEEN

Economists, However, Voice Uncertainty Over Length Of Improvement

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(P)—A moderate upturn in business this spring was forecast by an overwhelming majority of noted economists in a national poll completed today by the Associated Press.

A similar poll published six months ago accurately predicted the December business upturn high, and significantly showed indecision over the length of the recent recovery.

The economists, chosen to reflect various shades of political and economic views, and to supply geographical, agricultural, financial and government cross sections, again showed marked uncertainty—considered collectively—as to the duration of the newly predicted more modest recovery movement.

Six months ago most of those who responded attributed the then forthcoming upward trend largely to government spending, but today as a group they showed divergence of opinion on that subject.

Many thought increasing government debt is deterring private investment, while others said they feared marked curtailment of government spending would prove sharply deflationary.

Few anticipated a 1939 increase well above 1937-38 levels.

Other predictions determined by majority analysis of replies.

The housing program is a leading factor indicating recovery, and automobile production outlook is impressive.

A major European war is not likely now.

Rearmament orders probably will prove a modestly favorable factor in United States economy in 1939.

Decisive changes in the domestic political situation are not expected in the near future.

Farm prospects are somewhat improved.

Inventories have been reduced a bit further.

The relationships between prices, costs and wages is disturbing.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 4.—(P)—A thief, considerate of James Stonesifer's breakfast, left two chickens and a note in his henhouse. "I'm leaving you two chickens so you will have eggs this morning."

Stonesifer said the thief took 18 of the 20 hens which other thieves left after a raid two weeks ago.

TENNESSEE FIRM BOUGHT BY TVA

Long And Bitter Feud Between New Deal And Utility Brought To End

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(P)—An eventful chapter in the long and bitter feud between the New Deal and the nation's utilities was brought to a dramatic end today with announcement of an amicable arrangement under which TVA will purchase all electrical properties of Commonwealth and Southern.

Agreement was announced in Knoxville, Tenn., by TVA officials and in New York by Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern.

The TVA agreed to pay $78,600,000 for the electric properties of Tennessee Electric Power company, a subsidiary of Commonwealth and Southern.

The TVA had first offered only $55,000,000 for the properties.

Local utility executives in other systems said the end of the six-year Willkie-TVA feud was made possible by major concessions on the part of negotiators representing the federal administration.

These include:

1. Recognition for the first time of "equity" or common stock value in utility systems.

2. Recognition of "going business" value in utility financial structures, also for the first time.

3. Recognition of investments not strictly for purchase of operating property, another precedent.

The utility receives under the arrangement:

ITALY WILL KEEP TROOPS IN SPAIN

ROME, Feb. 5.—(Sunday)—(P)—The Fascist grand council served notice today that Italian volunteers "will not abandon" the Spanish struggle "before it is ended, as it must end, with France's victory."

The council expressed "profound satisfaction" with Chancellor Hitler's reitiated speech Monday but refrained from disclosing Italian demands on France.

A communique issued after the meeting, which ended at 1:15 a.m. (7:15 p.m., eastern standard time) indicated Premier Mussolini did not think the moment had arrived to state Fascist demands on France, but would push on for a complete victory for Insurgent Generalissimo Franco.

Il Duce outlined the "general international situation" to the council, and Foreign Minister Count Ciano explained to members "certain particular aspects of Italy's foreign policy," it was announced.

20 LOSE LIVES, 1,500 PREPARE TO RETURN HOME

Rich Valley Of Ohio Sees Relief From Threat Of Inundation

RIVERMEN REVISE CREST PREDICTIONS DOWNWARD

Roads In West Virginia And Kentucky Blocked By Water And Slides

(By Associated Press)
Freezing temperatures in the Ohio valley lessened the immediate threat of serious flood last night as sub-freezing weather and windstorms in the south and east left at least 20 dead.

Three were dead from flood waters in West Virginia. Refugees, totaling 1,500, prepared to return to their homes as some streams receded.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—(P)—The rich valley of the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Louisville, whose residents still carry vivid memory of 1937's record flood, saw relief from the threat of a new inundation tonight as freezing temperatures stemmed the flow of tributaries.

Predictions of fair weather throughout West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky brought signs of flood abatement but the cold weather added to the suffering of thousands of residents. West Virginia listed three known dead and upward of 1,500 homeless.

There and in Kentucky, landslides and high water blocked roads.

Governor A. B. Chandler of Kentucky sent highway crews into stricken communities along the Licking and Cumberland rivers.

National guardmen were ordered to stand by but Major Frank S. Lebkuecher at Frankfort, Ky., said conditions were under control.

The Ohio at Cincinnati and Huntington, W. Va., was rising at the rate of 3 feet an hour.

At Cincinnati a general crest of 56 feet from Huntington to Carrollton, Ky., by Sunday or Monday was forecast. The river rose above 50 feet here.

The anticipated crest, unchanged throughout the day, was in contrast to the 79.99 foot level two years ago when the devastating tide swept away homes and left 200 dead along the 98-mile course.

At Pittsburgh, earlier fears of a flood in the "golden triangle" area, confluence of the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio, were allayed as the

SLAYER SPURNS CHANCE TO LIVE

Frenchman Goes To Guillotine After Refusing Pardon From Lebrun

RENNES, France, Feb. 4.—(P)—A convicted murderer who spurned a chance to live was beheaded on the guillotine today by France's nervous new high executioner.

The prisoner was Maurice Pelorge who was entitled by tradition to a pardon as the first convict in line to be executed by the new "Monsieur de Paris."

The prison chaplain said Pelorge had shown only a desire to die since he confessed his crime at Christmas time, and therefore, rejected the traditional pardon offered him by President Albert Lebrun.

Eighty-year-old Leopold Desfourneaux was the executioner, to the hereditary succession of Anatole Deibler, who died suddenly Thursday.

Critics said Desfourneaux, former assistant of Deibler, was proficient, but lacked the expert technique his master had acquired during 40 years in which he had beheaded 400 persons.

They complained that Desfourneaux did not let the blade drop fast enough. Deibler had reduced the time of an

JUSTICE LAWYER ORDERS SAILING JUDGE TO RETURN

Radiogram Sent After Edwin S. Thomas Of Federal Bench Misses Subpoena

ATTORNEY WON'T SAY IF OTHER JURISTS IN PROBE

Wanted For Questioning In Manton And Coster-Musica Investigations

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(P)—A radiogram went out from the department of justice today to Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas of Connecticut, South America-bound on the Grace liner Santa Barbara, ordering his "immediate return" to the United States for questioning before two federal grand juries.

Judge Thomas sailed late yesterday and missed the serving of a subpoena issued by United States Attorney Gregory Noonan. Noonan wirelessly the master of the vessel and requested the jurist to disembark with the pilot. Nearly three hours later he received a reply that the judge was continuing his journey.

Noonan said Judge Thomas was wanted for questioning in connection with the investigation of the business affairs of United States Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton, whose resignation is effective Monday, and the inquiry into the situation precipitated by the unmasking and subsequent suicide of F. Donald Coster-Musica, head of the McKesson and Robbins drug firm.

By radiogram Brian McMahon, assistant attorney general, advised the judge, who has been on the Connecticut bench for 25 years, that the investigation was "very important to the administration of justice and to you personally. I insist on your immediate return from the first port of call."

At the same time Noonan sent a subpoena to federal authorities at

RUSSIANS, JAPS FIGHT FOUR DAYS

Border Hostilities Believed Most Serious Since July And August

TOKYO, Feb. 4.—(P)—The government of Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo today reported four days of almost continuous fighting between Soviet Russian forces and Manchoukuo guards' but failed to state definitely the outcome or number of casualties.

Communiqués issued at Hsinking, Manchoukuo capital, indicated that Russian "assaults" had been thrown back. While they described the "defending" forces as "Manchoukuo guards" it was believed here that Japanese regulars were involved.

It is known that some of Japan's finest troops have been stationed along the Manchoukuo-Siberia border instead of fighting in China.

Apparently these were the most serious border hostilities since last July and August when Japanese and Russian units battled near the intersection of Siberia, Manchoukuo and Korea.

The Manchoukuo government charged Soviet cavalrymen attacked a Manchoukuo border garrison Tuesday morning but were beaten back. Four other attacks followed on that day.

Minor skirmishing and maneuvering ensued, the communique from Hsinking said, until the Russians assaulted the same border point three times Friday afternoon and evening.

The scene of the fighting was given as Mengoskili, an isolated region 60

'HONEYMOON' PAIR PLACED IN JAIL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 4.—(P)—A "honeymoon" trip from Florida ended in jail here today for a youthful Miami couple.

United States Commissioner Lewis R. Featherstone said a youth listed as Millard Francis Walker, 20, and his 19-year-old wife at a hearing today entered pleas of guilty to charges of driving a stolen car from Miami to Memphis. They were held for federal grand jury action, he said, the man under $2,500 bond and she under $500 bond.

Commissioner Featherstone said he understood the couple married "about two months ago."

ITALIANS EGGED IN PANAMA CITY

Minister, Admiral And Aides On Official Visit Objects Of Barrage

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 4.—(P)—Anti-Italian demonstrators today pelted with eggs and vegetables an automobile bearing the Italian minister and an Italian admiral and aides on an official visit to President Dr. Juan Demostenes Arosemena.

The car was badly splattered and so much refuse flew in before the windshield could be raised that the party had to return to the admiral's visiting flagship to change clothes before carrying out the call.

The disturbance occurred about noon as the automobile carrying Minister Italo Capanni and Admiral Eduardo Somigli passed Santa Ana plaza on the way to the presidential palace. It lasted between 15 and 20 minutes.

Somigli is commander of the Italian seventh naval division, consisting of the cruisers Eugenio Di Savoia and Emanuele Filiberto Duca D'Aosta, on a world cruise to demonstrate Italian naval strength.

Police reinforcements arrived shortly after the disturbance started and began gathering in the participants. Originally the demonstrators were a small group numbering between 30 and 50 but increased as store and office workers left their jobs for lunch.

As fast as the disturbers could be arrested and arraigned they were sentenced each to 10 days in jail on charges of disorderly conduct and inciting the populace.

The executive power, that is the president and minister of justice, ordered all subordinate authorities sternly to prevent further infractions of "Panama's traditional hospitality" during the visit of the Italian ships.

During the night, stickers bearing such phrases as "death to Mussolini; viva Roosevelt" and "down with Franco and the slayers of women and children" were pasted on billboards, walls, curbs and telephone poles.

ORLEANS FEDERAL CONTRACT AWARDED

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—(P)—The United States treasury department, according to dispatches from Washington, today awarded a contract for construction of a 10-story federal building in this city to the S. N. Nielsen company of Chicago.

The amount of the Nielsen company contract is $1,392,165 and the building must be completed in 450 days.

The Chicago firm submitted the lowest of 12 bids opened two months ago by the treasury department.

The architects' designs call for a modernistic type of structure with the first two floors housing additional postoffice facilities. The upper floors will be used for governmental offices now scattered in various office buildings in this city.

BRITAIN ORDERS 250 MORE PLANES

Impressed By Prospect Of Faster Deliveries From U. S. Firms

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(P)—Impressed by the prospect of faster deliveries, the British government has asked two United States concerns already working on orders for 400 military planes to increase the number to 650.

The air ministry announced today that orders for the additional planes, about $13,000,000 worth in addition to the original $35,000,000, had been placed.

The new orders called for 50 general reconnaissance planes from the Lockheed Aircraft corporation of Burbank, Calif., and 200 trainers from North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Calif.

Two hundred planes had been ordered from each concern as a result of the visit of a British air mission to the United States in May, last year.

In announcing the original orders, the air ministry indicated the numbers might be increased.

Today's air ministry announcement said: "In view of improved deliveries in prospect under orders for aircraft placed by the air ministry in the United States last year, it has been possible to negotiate an increase in contracts for delivery within the period originally contemplated."

The companies had been given one to two years to fill the orders. (Both Britain and France, out-

MARTIAL LAW IN HUNGARY IMPOSED

BUDAPEST, Feb. 4.—(P)—The government tonight clamped martial law on Hungary to combat political violence and empowered special courts to impose the death penalty by hanging within 48 hours after arrest in certain cases.

This action, taken by the cabinet at any emergency session, was prompted by a bomb explosion last night in Budapest's largest synagogue which caused injury of about 20 persons.

The cabinet also suppressed for two months the Nazi newspaper Magyar-sag, personal organ of the jailed Nazi leader, Ferenc Szalasi, who was sentenced last July to three years imprisonment for "incitement."

The government made no comment on the suppression. The Magyar-sag had been clamoring for stern anti-Semitic laws.

The chief provision of the decree was that persons possessing explosives, bombs or firearms with intent to make an assault on public order or who are caught while committing acts of violence are to be tried by a special tribunal.

The special tribunal may make only one of two decisions—innocent or guilty and subject to the death penalty within 24 hours. Trial must take place within 24 hours after arrest.

MOVE COMES AS NEGRIN PLANS TO QUIT CATALONIA

Government Army Officers Frankly Admit Insurgent Advance Rout

REBELS SMASH STEADILY NORTH TOWARD FRONTIER

Proposed Basis For Negotiations Believed Unsuitable To Franco

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 4.—(P)—The Spanish government was reported in reliable quarters tonight to have requested Great Britain to open secret negotiations with insurgents to end the savage two and one-half-year-old civil war.

The reported overtures contained such broad qualifications, however, as to raise the question of their success.

They were disclosed at a time when Premier Juan Negrin's government took first steps toward abandoning all of Catalonia—Spain's northeastern corner—to Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's conquering forces in an attempt to make a last stand in the central quarter of Spain, embracing Valencia and Madrid.

It was understood that in the request to the British government the Spanish government authorities stipulated that the peace talks be opened with three points enunciated by Negrin Wednesday as the background. Then Negrin told the cortes (parliament) at Figueras that the government's aims were:

1. A guarantee of independence for Spain and freedom from foreign influence.

2. A government desired by the people, as shown by plebiscite.

3. Liquidation of the war without persecution to permit all Spaniards to join in the country's reconstruction.

There was no indication at Burgos of Franco's reaction to the Spanish government's move. Some diplomats believed the insurgent leader would balk at negotiating on such a broad basis, particularly in view of his military successes.

The Spanish government's plight in Catalonia was growing worse every hour.

WANT ROOSEVELT STATEMENT BARE

Senator Clark Joins In Proposing Committeemen Give Their Versions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(P)—Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, added his support today to a Republican demand that senate military committeemen be permitted to tell their versions of what President Roosevelt said when he discussed foreign policies with them at the White House Tuesday.

The Missourian said he was in sympathy with such a proposal, made by Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire yesterday, that press things he had said—and had not said—and enunciated a four-point foreign policy.

Senator Gurney, Republican, South Dakota, also said he was "absolutely in accord" with Bridges' demand, but Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, observed that he thought the whole discussion was "beside the point now."

The president swore the committee to secrecy, but as inevitably happens in Washington, varying accounts of what he said leaked out and were published.

One of these was that Mr. Roosevelt had asserted that America's frontier

POSTOFFICE HAS ITS BEST YEAR

The year 1938 proved to be the biggest in volume of business that the Monroe postoffice has ever experienced, according to Postmaster J. R. Wooten. Cash receipts totaled a sum of approximately $170,000, and these are taken as reflective of improved business conditions prevailing in this section.

Figures for the past five years are given as follows: 1935, postal receipts, $138,000; 1936, $152,000; 1937, 169,000; and 1938, as stated, $170,000.

Business transacted for January, 1939, the first month of the new year, totaled a total of $14,306, receipts totaled with January, 1938, receipts which were $13,327.77. If this same rate of gain is continued through the present year it will show more than $11,000 gain for the 12 months.

CRIPPLED KIDDIES BEING ASSISTED

Children Are Receiving Aid Through Medical And Surgical Means Here

Forty members of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children, representing 17 civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations in Monroe and Ouachita parish, met in the assembly room of Bish Mathis Institute Friday night. The feature of the meeting was the report that seven cases in this vicinity are receiving corrective treatment and satisfactory results are anticipated.

A. N. Robinson, chairman, presided and introduced Dr. A. Scott Hamilton, orthopedist, who explained the work being done for the local cases. The children, all in Ouachita parish, range in age from 4 months to 14 years, he said. They are suffering from crippling conditions due to a variety of causes, congenital club-foot, infantile paralysis, etc.

The work of caring for these children, providing for operations, the anesthetics, casts, braces, and all other necessary expenses, has been financed entirely by the Ouachita unit.

Chairman Robinson announced that the annual solicitation for membership and the Easter seal sale will begin this year on March 13. He emphasized the fact that the unit is included in the community chest for only that portion of its funds which is estimated would be received through free will offerings and voluntary contributions and is exclusive of the Easter campaign, which is an annual affair throughout the nation.

Attention of the members was called to the Pepper-Boland bill which will soon be introduced into the United States senate and house. This bill provides for federal funds to assist states in the education of all physically handicapped children.

The value of buildings in the London metropolitan area has been estimated at around $12,500,000,000.

Ancient Town Of Vidalia To Begin Moving Monday

One Of Oldest Places In State At Last Backs Away From Mighty Mississippi

VIDALIA, La., Feb. 4.—(Special).—The turgid, relentless Mississippi, after 141 years of pounding and washing, has forced one of the oldest towns on the western bank to retreat but not surrender. Vidalia, inhabited since 1802, will retire six blocks, throw up a new levee and carry on the age old fight of man against the river.

WPA workmen will begin Monday laying out the new town site, opening streets for paving, laying sidewalks, installing drainage and utilities for the 1,500 residents whose forefathers learned to fight with Jackson at New Orleans.

Down the main streets of the old town, an emergency levee is already taking form, the first breastworks of the battle. Soon the ancient brick courthouse, jail and clerk's office will be demolished and where once pioneer America tramped the old Natchez Trace the "Father of Waters" will curl his tawny tentacles.

Modern engineering stepped into the battle some years ago. The United States engineers dredged out the famous Vidalia sand-bar, scene of many historic duels, cut through the bend, a cut-off formed by the river, and strong currents were thrown against the levee protecting the town. The Mississippi then got in its best blows, undermining the levee to such an extent that the town was endangered.

Always fighting, the men of science concluded they could best thwart the river by widening its channel at Vidalia and the town was notified it would have to move back. These engineers say they have conquered the ancient enemy. No more will the muddy Mississippi endanger the town when the new levees and dredging are completed.

Vidaliens learned to take adversity resolutely with Zachary Taylor when he stormed Monterey. The descendants of those old soldiers are moving will always face the future resolutely. This spirit is the unseen power behind the WPA crews who are marking the site for the new courthouse, six blocks west of the river, the new school, and the new homes and places of business.

The river is still a menace but Vidalia and the United States engineers say it will never force them to retreat again.

MASUR BACK FROM SPRING BUYING TRIP

Sig Masur, general manager of the Palace, together with Mrs. Masur, has just returned from a spring buying trip to New York City.

"Never have I seen so many buyers at one time as descended upon the metropolis, during the middle of last month," Mr. Masur said. "Three special trains out of St. Louis, Mo., over the Pennsylvania railroad carried 90 per cent of the buyers."

"When they arrived in New York they filled the stores and crowded hotels to capacity."

"It seems to me after many years of similar trade trips, that I have never before seen such attractive spring merchandise priced so low," he said.

Mr. Masur said that dealers were optimistic and were of the opinion that the year will prove more satisfactory than was 1938.

He said there was little snow in New York when he was there but that the weather was severely cold, the mercury dropping to six degrees above zero and hovering there for some time.

When in New York, Mr. Masur was joined on his buying expeditions by William Grosse, Miss Mary O'Kelly and Mrs. J. A. Wyatt, all members of the staff of the Palace store in Monroe.

CONFERENCES ON EDUCATION SLATED

Five regional conferences covering the entire state will be held this week by A. M. Hopper, state elementary school supervisor, and F. C. Barrow, state high school supervisor, which must be attended by all school superintendents and superintendents of Louisiana, it is announced.

The first will be held in Alexandria Monday; the next conference will be held in Monroe at the office of T. O. Brown, parish school superintendent, all day Tuesday, Wednesday, while Lafayette and Baton Rouge will be the scene of the last two days' sessions on Thursday and Friday respectively.

School superintendents and supervisors will be asked to attend one of the conferences, selecting the one that will be held nearest to him.

It is expected that 25 to 30 will attend the Monroe conference. At the meeting the matter of the new curriculum and other matters that concern modern education will be considered.

LOGTOWN HOME CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEET

The Logtown Home Demonstration club held its regular monthly social meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Courtland McCoy. Mrs. H. B. Todd assisted as co-hostess.

A complete list of clothing donated to needy families was given. Plans were discussed and outlines given by various leaders of various projects of 1939.

One new member, Mrs. Allan Cloud, of Bosco, was admitted into the club.

A social time was enjoyed by the 20 members present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Calloway, with Mrs. Marvin Shipp, as co-hostess.

G. R. OBER AND SON OPEN NEW LAUNDRY

Announcement was made yesterday that G. R. Ober and Son, cleaning and pressing firm operators in Monroe for many years, are entering the laundry field with a new plant installed in the building at 2405 South Grand street.

Establishment of the laundry was made in answer to repeated requests from the public which has long patronized the firm's cleaning and pressing service, the proprietors stated. Operating three business locations or pick-up stations, located at 200 Catalpa street, North Third street near Louisville avenue and 2405 South Grand street, the firm will in no wise alter its established cleaning and pressing service to enter the laundry field, but is expanding the business to include the laundry field and give double service to its customers.

Cash and carry laundry prices offered the public in the new service are so low that they are less than the cost of laundry taken to homes of laundresses, it was asserted. Special prices are made available for bundles of family wash and bachelor bundles. While the rock bottom prices prevail for laundry delivered and picked up by customers at the three stations, G. R. Ober and Son will send a truck to pick up and deliver laundry at an additional cost of 20 per cent more. The firm's telephone number is 160.

Later when Texas herds began the long overland drive to eastern markets, Vidalia was trail's end for those coming through the old Camine Real. The cowboys were paid off at Vidalia and their roistering rang across the muddy Mississippi to be heard at Natchez.

Alonso Smith, famous cattle herder and trail blazer said of Vidalia: "That little old river town is one of the toughest in the world."

That was back when the country was new and its settlers had to fight to live. They had to fight greater obstacles than a bowie knife in the hands of a cowboy, for the ever-reaching fingers of a hungry river was with them always.

Through the reconstruction days following the Civil war the beautiful little river fought another brave battle. A fight to bring into a reality a then hollow phrase—to form a more perfect union. They did form the more perfect union and they did forget the animosities of the great War Between the States. But there was one thing they could never forget, "Old Man River."

Down through the years the town's levees had grown larger and higher. They battled through the devastating 1927 flood which threatened the town for days. Higher went the levees. Then came the flood of 1937 with higher levels and still higher dikes.

In 1934, their own levee district aided by the United States government, raised the earthworks to withstand floods greater than that of 1927, and it was proved, greater than the stage in 1937.

But the Mississippi was crafty. The river had shifted its course many times and maps of the district looked like a sprawling, tawny, python ready to strangle the valiant little town.

Army engineers straightened out dangerous bends, dredged channels and finally cut through the Gile's bend just north of the town's limits. This work shifted the course of the currents, throwing its full force against the great dikes of the town.

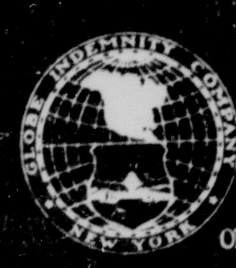

Happy at last, the Mississippi pounded and undermined the town's protection levee causing it to erode and cave. Great sections splashed down into the raw of the quickened currents. Then it was determined to move back but not surrender.

Old settlers of the town say: Vidalia was here when President Jefferson bought Louisiana from Napoleon. This town is steeped in ancient tradition and those of us who have our roots here deeply enough

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD SESSIONS

Conference in Alexandria Planned This Week; 300 To Attend

The Louisiana Baptist preachers' evangelistic conference will be held at Alexandria Tuesday and Wednesday at the Calvary Baptist church. Among those who will have a prominent part on the program will be Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the Monroe First Baptist church and president of the Louisiana state Baptist convention.

Others on the program will be Dr. M. E. Dodd, Shreveport; Dr. B. A. Copass, Southwestern Baptist seminary, Fort Worth, Tex.; Dr. Marshall Craig, Dallas, Tex.; Dr. R. V. Herndon, Lake Charles; and Dr. C. W. Culp, Shreveport.

The day services will be at 11 a. m. and night services at 7 p. m., and will be open to the public.

The conference is under the direction of Dr. W. H. Knight, superintendent of evangelism for the Baptist convention of Louisiana. It is expected that 300 pastors and religious workers will attend the conference.

The conference will be unique in that all the preachers will be taught, fed and given beds in the church building. The third and fourth floors of the educational unit will be used as a dormitory. A spacious dining room has been provided by removing a partition separating two departments of the Sunday school. The main auditorium and adjacent class rooms will be used for educational and inspirational services.

ELECT 4-H LEADERS

OKALOOSA, La., Feb. 4.—(Special)—Project leaders of the Okaloosa junior 4-H club were elected as follows: Mrs. A. P. Burkett, canning and garden; Mrs. H. H. Walters, poultry, pig and beef; Mrs. Ellen Reid, potato, cotton and corn; Mrs. E. S. Richardson, girls' room and food preservation leader.

Thirty-eight 4-H club boys in Irrell county, North Carolina, averaged 508 pounds of lint cotton per acre on 39 acres in 1934.

Monroe Youth Plane Pilot Of Atlantic Seaboard Line

Buflin R. Fairchild Selected For One Of Best Flying Jobs In Nation

Somewhere along the Atlantic seaboard as this edition of the Morning World rolls off the press, a silver-winged Eastern Air Lines transport plane, night flying out of Miami, Fla., points its nose to its aerial, its home base at Newark, N. J.

Riding the skies in the pilot's seat, in radio communication with landing fields along the route, master of the finest ship controls that science has made, and alert, quick reader of the instrument board dials, a Monroe boy carries on with the work and adventure that have been an unattainable dream for hundreds of other ambitious young Americans.

As though the hero of a modern-day Horatio Alger story, Buflin R. Fairchild, six years ago employed in a modest position in a Monroe department store, has attained one of the most interesting and best-paying jobs among the flying men of the United States.

He is no hero to himself, however, as he guides the man-made eagle, with its load of passengers, through the night. Modest and unassuming, almost to a fault, and so stolid and impassive that a stranger would think him phlegmatic, Buflin Fairchild carries on with his work with as much vanity and pretension as a day laborer displays in shoveling dirt out of a hole.

Six years ago the reporter who writes this story of the Monroe boy's success, wrote the story of Fairchild's first solo flight. That first story did not come from Fairchild, but from one of his friends. Three weeks after the story was published, the reporter saw Fairchild on the street. "Well," remarked the reporter, "we got that story about your solo flight."

"Yes," replied the blond husky, laconically, "I took her up and brought her down."

That many words from Fairchild, used in connection with "I," was an epigram.

Lacking no mental and physical energy in studying aviation facts and theories and in learning how to rebuild and repair airplanes with his own hands, Fairchild continued his innate modesty during the years following his solo flight, and it was only when news of his present job reached Monroe that it was revealed that he had acquired experience in aviation which quite fully explains why he was selected for the job.

Leaving Monroe about five years ago, Fairchild began his pilot's career as a barnstormer, landing in hay fields and meadows near small towns and taking up passengers. Occasionally he picked up a cross-country fare.

For the past three years he has been employed by the Greer Dusting company of Memphis, Tenn., in cotton and citrus dusting operations which carried him to all southern states. Between dusting seasons he made air trips to many parts of the nation, including the west coast, carrying passengers of substantial means who paid well for the services of an experienced pilot and his ship.

Having flown over all types of terrain and in virtually all types of weather in the United States, Fairchild, a year ago, passed with flying colors the pilot's examinations of the United States army. He took the examinations for, and received, a commission as second lieutenant in the army air corps reserve.

Having passed the stringent army examinations, and having to his credit 1,600 flying hours, without a mishap, Fairchild had a record sufficient to do plenty of talking for him when he applied for the Eastern Air Lines' pilot's position. He passed the air lines company's various tests and examinations without difficulty.

Through coincidence, Fairchild received at the same time, several weeks ago, the opportunity to work for the air lines company or to enter the regular army air corps as a lieutenant. Since the country was not at war, he chose the former position.

Six years ago Fairchild began the study of aviation while employed at the Palace Department store. He spent his spare time at Smoot field, helping aviation mechanics service and rebuild planes, and devoted most of his reading time to subjects dealing with airplanes and flying.

After receiving only three and one-half hours flying instruction, he made his first solo flight. He soon purchased a broken-down plane, rebuilt it, and within a year after his first solo flight was the owner of a plane in good condition and the holder of a private pilot's license.

Fairchild quit his job at the department store and while learning all he could about airplane construction and flying at Smoot field, went through a period in which there seldom were a few coins in his pocket, and never any folding money, but always something happening at the field of such interest that he would forget when meal time arrived—admitting that he had the price of a meal.

Fairchild's mother, Mrs. Lela Fairchild, resides at 408 Filhiol avenue, West Monroe. He has a brother, Haskell Fairchild, employed at the Palace Department store, who follows aviation as a hobby and who flies occasionally, and has a sister, Miss Hazel Fairchild, secretary of the Ouachita parish Camp Fire girls' organization.

And so, the silver-winged transport plane, night flying out of Miami, points its nose through snow or sleet or rain, or climbs above storm clouds and streaks of lightning, on its flight to Newark.

When the plane lands at the home base and the husky pilot steps out, we ask him: "So you're the pilot of that plane? You know all about those intricate gadgets on the panel? You know about winds, currents, ceilings, air pockets, weather conditions, weather forecasts, humidity, temperatures and radio sending and reception, and a great deal of other scientific stuff a flying fellow has to know?"

The pilot gives us a smile, but in the matter-of-fact expression of his

Although ancient Rome had numerous earthquakes, they never caused any outstanding destruction. Some historians contend that many of the Roman palaces and temples said to have been destroyed by barbarians between the 5th and 9th centuries really were shaken down by quakes.

Let's Have No Secrecy

In the furore about sale of military airplanes to France, one thing stands out quite clearly.

The American people are entitled to know what is going on.

If there is one thing that stands contrary to every American principle, it is to have any arrangements or understandings with any country which the people do not know about.

It is all very well to protect military secrets by closed hearings and unrecorded testimony. But it is quite another to have discussions of foreign policy itself in secret.

Can it be true, as reported, that the president pledged the military affairs committee to secrecy in a recent hearing "lest details of the policy involved frighten the public"? This is scarcely credible.

What kind of a policy is it that would "frighten the public"? Isn't it the same public which in case of war would be asked to wage it unfrightened? Isn't the public made up largely of the same people who would in war be drafted into the army and asked to face an enemy, unfrightened? Isn't the public the same one which might be asked to hide underground at the alarm of air attack, unfrightened?

The American public is not so easily frightened. It is entitled to know the facts of life.

It has not forgotten, for instance, how the diplomacy of Sir Edward Grey had the British in a box when the World War broke out. Grey left them no choice whatever but to enter the war. There was no formal military alliance with France. But close cooperation between the general staffs, military and naval, and many "conversations" between civilian leaders, had made the two countries interdependent and closely linked. When war came, the British people had no genuine free choice.

The United States wants no agreements, understandings, or obligation, spoken or unspoken, written or unwritten, that will deny to it a free choice if there is another world war.

This is not to argue that we should refuse to sell airplanes to France. We are already selling war supplies to Japan to help it bomb the independence out of the Chinese. We are selling them to South American countries whose current governments are less than completely democratic. In fact, we are selling them to all comers except to the legal Spanish government.

Probably it is all right to sell planes to France. But we have a right to know to precisely what policies we are being committed. Nothing less than that will sustain popular confidence in those policies.

SMUGGLERS IN HIGH LIFE

Jack Benny, radio comedian, who is involved in serious difficulties with the federal government, explains that the charges of complicity in smuggling operations, on which he has been indicted, are a grave error and an injustice. He is entitled to the presumption of innocence until the jury has returned its verdict. A great many people for whom he has provided pleasant hours will hate to believe that an entertainer who earns $12,000 a week is basically something in the nature of a cheap chiseler.

However, all others involved in the same case have entered pleas of guilty, and it is possible to comment on their conduct without the danger of the injustice of prejudice. The principals in this smuggling scandal are all persons of wealth, financially able to buy jewels and gowns in great profusion. And they have come by their abundance of means rather easily. Yet, they have not hesitated to defraud the government out of a few hundred dollars.

In the minds of most citizens, of course, the "government" is an abstract, intangible thing, rather difficult, for this reason, to offend or injure. But actually the government is the people, 130,000,000 men and women, most of whom struggle desperately to weather the storms of life, to pay their way and help maintain those institutions that are essential to enlightenment, security, order and a reasonably comfortable life.

The smugglers, the relief chiselers and the assorted other crooks are, accordingly, enemies of the masses of the people. It is always a pleasure and a source of deep satisfaction when they are tripped up.

A PARTISAN'S CREED

My party can do no wrong. No matter how reprehensibly it behaves, it is right. The other party can do no right. No matter how admirably it behaves, it is wrong.

Blindly I follow the leaders of my party; I do not question them or their motives.

Ever since I was twenty-one years old I have voted the straight party ticket, no matter who was on it. I would vote for a yellow dog if my party put him up.

I place allegiance to my party above the good of my community, the welfare of my country and the commandments of my God.

Note: The totalitarian citizen makes an idol of his state and worships it. The hundred per cent partisan makes an idol of his party and worships it.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—A number of officers in the United States navy are rather anxiously awaiting the return from Colombia of Captain Lawrence Reinsider, U. S. N.

Captain Reinsider has been named head of the United States naval mission to Colombia, and he's down there now looking over the ground—possibly the water. When he comes back and makes his report, certain officers will be detailed to go back down there with him and serve on the mission.

In many ways a job on a naval mission is a coveted assignment. The officer's pay from the United States navy goes on as usual; meanwhile, the country to which he is assigned also pays him a salary—usually 110 per cent of what his American pay is. So while the assignment lasts he draws double pay, and in addition is considerable of a big shot.

The navy is glad to send out missions. They don't give the navy any special tie-ups with the foreign countries involved, but they do serve to cement good relations. Also, they usually result in orders for American goods. The officers don't serve as salesmen, but naturally they tell their hosts, in reply to questions, that the United States navy uses so-and-so's guns, such-and-such electrical equipment, and so on. The orders usually follow.

Not all officers are crazy about the foreign assignments. The pay is good, but the living expenses are high. A good deal of rather high-class entertaining is involved; in the end, many of them wind up worse off financially than when they started.

The Colombia mission brings the number of South American countries which the navy is tutoring up to four. Captain Toussaint Beauregard, descendant of the famous Confederate general, is head of the mission to Brazil. He could tackle "most any mission, by the way; speaks Portuguese, Spanish, French and German. Then there's Captain Bruce Canaga heading a mission to Peru and Captain Guy Baker serving as naval adviser in the Argentine.

Crooning Celebrity

Even as in New York, Washington society is moaning low these days. Well, part of it is, anyhow. A very ornamental and talented part, too—Mary de Sibour, who has gone and hired out as a torch singer in one of the capital's flouzier hotels.

Mary de Sibour is high society in her own right, and—having married the eldest son of the late Count Henri de Sibour—will one day be a countess. Meanwhile, she croons and carries the torch in a lunch-and-supper-club room, and does right well at it too!

Champ Check Signer

Helen B. Smith must be the world's champion check signer. An employee of the treasury department, where she has worked 35 years, Miss Smith puts in eight hours a day, five and one-half days a week, doing nothing but signing checks. Last year she signed upwards of a million. They go mostly to people who have loaned money to Uncle Sam.

One doesn't, however. The monthly pay check drawn by President Roosevelt is signed by Miss Smith.

She likes her job, says she never gets writer's cramp; has a trick of holding the pen loosely and wearing a rubber guard on the most used finger.

GHOSTS AT GENEVA

By WILLIS THORNTON

There is a feeling of unreality about the news that Abyssinians living in Europe have presented to the secretary general of the League of Nations a collection of documents purporting to show continued resistance in Ethiopia to the Italian conquest.

It seems unreal, because in the minds of many the League of Nations has ceased to exist; Ethiopia has ceased to exist as an independent country.

Was it a meeting of ghosts when these documents passed from the hands of a phantom government into those of a neglected world organization? Abyssinia is still a member of the League of Nations, with a seat in the assembly. And the organization housed in the marble palaces in Geneva is still going through the motions of a world federation, though deserted by many powerful one-time members, and neglected by many others.

It would be easy to sniff at these proceedings, and no doubt, if they were noted at all, many a sniff has already been given them in Italy and other countries outside the league.

But that is the easy view. No one ought to lose sight of these dusky refugees, still working desperately for their country that was, nor of those secretaries and diplomats still keeping alive the emaciated body of the parliament of man that might have been.

This is aside from the merits of the Ethiopian case, or the case for or against the League of Nations as set up in 1919 and as operated since. Each stands for something that must not be lost.

Ethiopia stands for civilized man's protest against the doctrine that the strong may take what they wish regardless of right. And the league stands for the idea that some time, somehow, the peoples of the world must devise a world order based on reason and peace rather than on ambition and force.

Therefore, one need not argue for the validity of the claims either of Ethiopia or the league as they stand today, to appreciate that each still has value in keeping eyes and minds focused on principles that must not die if the world is to be held back from a new descent into barbarism.

SO THEY SAY

Every pair of silk hose means a dead Chinese.—Helen Hulick, Los Angeles school teacher, explaining why she wouldn't buy stockings so she might comply with a court order not to appear in slacks.

As they say in Hollywood, I'm between pictures.—James Roosevelt, when asked in Hollywood if he would enter the motion picture business.

Santa has a bun on.—Patrolman Kenneth Perry, Detroit, as he brought a red-coated, whiskered fellow into the station in protective custody.

A man that's got the name of having a few dollars can't afford to go back to his home town.—Tony Palazolo, fight promoter, San Francisco.

I am too independent to get married and never will. That is, I think so.—Lena Riefenstahl, rumored Hitler's "girl friend."

Gargle a sword now and then to avoid throat ailments.—John G. (Lucky) Ball, sword swallower of Hoxie, Kan.

BARBS

Insurgent General Franco has refused a Christmas truce in Spanish war for fear it would indicate "weakness." Another general outsmarts himself—the refusal indicates just that.

An appeals judge reversed a decision awarding Dr. Jesse Citron a $12,000 judgment against Comedian W. C. Fields. Dr. Citron was reported sour on the judge.

Christmas gives new meaning to so many things—like elbow room—in the ribs of the guy next to you.

Apparently a lot of French deputies don't think the government's "gags" are so funny.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

Then said Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.—Matthew 4:10.

It is for the sake of man, not of God, that worship and prayers are required.—Blair.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE HANDY MAN OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION—During the French revolution, Charles de la Bussiere, French aristocrat, obtained a job as sweeper with the dread Tribunal of the Committee of Public Welfare, in charge of trials of members of the French aristocracy. In this capacity he saved the lives of 34,000 Frenchmen and Frenchwomen, the flower of all France.

Having access to the records, he would nightly abstract a number of files, and either burn them in his house or destroy them after soaking them in water to obliterate the writing. Due to his activity, some victims under sentence of death were never executed, and some were never tried. Among the victims whose lives were saved by this noblest of sweepers of them all was Josephine de Beauharnais, who later became the wife of Napoleon; Madame Lafayette, wife of the famous American hero, and a great number of others.

Human Side Of The News OUR CHILDREN

By EDWIN C. HILL

Once again, most dramatically, the contribution of radio to the saving of human life is brought to our attention. I mean the ocean-crash of the ice-stranded flying boat Cavalier, and the rescue within a few hours of 10 of its 13 passengers.

It would be interesting, I think, if someone with a zest for statistical research would go back over the record and find how many human lives are marked up to the credit of the late Guglielmo Marconi in St. Peter's ledger—thousands by now. It wasn't so in the old days.

Back in the eighteen-nineties the Cunarder Umbria, a fine ship for her time, broke down in the middle of the Atlantic. Her propeller shaft broke in two, and there she was, helpless as a log. And it was a week before help got to her, by chance, of course.

It was on May 11, 1833, that the Lady of the Lake, bound from England to Quebec, hit an iceberg and sank with a loss of 21 lives. Hours elapsed between the collision and the sinking, and radio doubtless would have saved these lives. It would have saved thousands of others lost in the sinking of other transatlantic ships in the century which has passed since that day.

The finding of that little huddle of desperate men and women of the Cavalier, clinging to their life-preservers in that dark watery waste, the women folk gallantly singing, dramatically abridges the story of radio's boon to seafarers. We have taken all too casually the miracle first disclosed when Jack Binns stuck to his key on the sinking Republic.

But navigation, too, has made a tremendous progress in the last century. Any tramp freighter of today probably could give her location more accurately than the doomed Lady of the Lake could have given it in 1833. A friend of this writer tells of crossing in a dense fog on a little Fabre line boat, driven off her course, caught in many a side slip, with no chance to use the sextant.

"Do you know where we are?" my friend asked the captain.

"Certainly," he replied. "If this fog should lift, the Fire Island light would be dead ahead."

The fog did lift in about half an hour, and there was the Fire Island light.

"How did you do it?" asked the passenger.

"By soundings," he said. "We know the bottom of this ocean the way you know your front yard or your living room. Repeated soundings give us a configuration which gives us our location. That would have been utterly impossible without those maps of the ocean floor in our chartroom."

Compasses have been tremendously improved, both on ships and airplanes. There is now possible a much more accurate gauge of the magnetic variation, and much more delicate and dependable adjustments of compensatory mechanism. Even when Lindbergh flew the behavior of a compass on a metal airplane was tricky and unpredictable. Ordinarily an old-fashioned compass on a plane behaves like a dog with a bunch of firecrackers tied to its tail.

But there were other important improvements. Along came directional radio, laying down a lane for an airship to follow through the darkest night, over the darkest seas. And that is just about the answer to that ancient curse of mariners—the side slip. Your nose may be pointed right, but

COMMITTEES WILL BE NAMED MONDAY

The personnel of all committees for 1939 Chamber of Commerce projects will be selected tomorrow at a meeting scheduled at the rooms of the organization at 10 a. m. At this meeting A. O. Evans, president, and Lee Hodges, junior board president, will be in charge and assist in making the selections.

Formulation of plans for extending the membership of the chamber will be perfected at a meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m. Sid A. Moss, membership chairman, will preside and it is expected to add many business firms to the present membership.

In West Monroe, an active campaign for members will be carried out by Tom Hicks, W. R. Hatchell and Walter Fisher, who already have added fully a dozen to the membership in that city as a result of the get-together barbecue held recently. It is believed that 50 more can be enrolled in West Monroe.

Plans were formed for the holding of an interesting debate at the next meeting.

The Commerce club will act as hostess in the social building from February 20 to 25.

CENTER COMMERCE CLUB NAMES ITS TREASURER

The Commerce club of Northeast Center elected Miss Sidney Ruth Waddle treasurer at its meeting the past week.

By Ripley WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—Not in a long time have certain members of congress been so much caught in a mill of their own making as in the case of the so-called neutrality act.

Just now it is especially painful to members like Senator Nye of North Dakota who are distressed over how the act has injured loyalist Spain, but are hauled another way by their original wish to keep the United States entirely out of the struggles of foreign powers.

Thus they were more than pleased when Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state (under Hoover), advanced a plan which offered them an "out" even if it left their original principles somewhat tangled.

Fundamentally the neutrality act is based on the supposition that the country cannot trust its president in his conduct of foreign affairs. It had its origin in investigations of the munitions committee, which Nye headed. Several committee members came to the conclusion that President Wilson was bamboozled into leading the United States into war on the side of the allies by the machinations of bankers and munitions makers.

Eliminates 'Pressure' Danger
No president, they asserted, can withstand such tremendous pressure. So the neutrality act was designed to prevent any groups from gaining a profit from a foreign war, thus avoiding any financial interest in it which would need United States protection.

The neutrality act originally did not apply to civil wars, but the alarming prospect that Spain might become the starting place for a new World War excited congress to enact a special resolution as soon as it came into session in January, 1937. It prohibited shipment of arms and munitions to either side in Spain. Later the regular neutrality act was amended to include civil wars.

It developed after that that the real problem in Spain, so far as the United States was concerned, was the fact that Italy and Germany were supplying munitions to insurgents while loyalist Spain, a friendly government recognized by the United States, had only inadequate supplies.

What was most painful to neutrality advocates was the fact that the winning side was favored by totalitarian states whose ideology is so sharply at conflict with democracy in the United States.

That made Nye and associates willing to overlook their earlier insistence on an attitude of hands-off-no-matter-what-happens. They advocated legislation specifically lifting the embargo.

Stimson's Plan
And then Stimson suggested that such legislation was really not necessary. Here is the situation:

The neutrality act provides that when foreign war breaks out and threatens the peace and security of the United States, the president must proclaim the fact, whereupon the arms embargo goes into effect. The special act covering Spain did not give the president such leeway. It simply prohibited shipment of arms to Spain.

Both the neutrality act and the special act covering Spain, however, leave it to the president to lift the embargo when he finds that the shipment of arms would not jeopardize the peace of the United States. A year ago the president said the situation was such that he could not act, and that any change would have to come through congress.

Now Stimson advances the suggestion that it is not the shipment of arms to Spain that endangers the peace of the United States but the real danger is the embargo which helps the totalitarian foes of loyalist Spain to win. Moreover, he warned (as warnings have been issued before) that it was setting a bad precedent to refuse to ship arms to a friendly state trying to put down a rebellion.

His interpretation would shift to the president the responsibility for lifting the Spanish embargo. And the neutrality group favored his interpretation.

Quite aside from all this, it now might be asked who is putting the heat on the president, the bankers and munitions makers—or others?

Two centuries after the profound, hard-working Johann Sebastian Bach produced music in which he seems to have put in perhaps the greatest of all musicians. Yet performed during his life, and even for almost a century after his death, in 1750, they lay ignored, almost unknown. Indeed, the place of Bach's burial was unknown for more than 150 years.

One salient reason explains this neglect of the great artist; he was ahead of his time. Bach was a musician and his music was Bach.

He created music which he possibly did not comprehend. He followed his impulses, discarding the tastes of the time, and his work lives to mirror the entire universe.

Yet opportunity was not generous to Bach. He was born a poor youth at Eisenach, Germany, on March 21, 1685. Bach had lost both father and mother by his 10th year. He was cast upon the world to earn his own living at 14. But almost at once his great musical genius began to flower.

He battled adversity much of his life, but religion held him steadfast. He was married twice, and the father of 20 children. Beyond him except as he is revealed through his music, the great cantatas, the Passions, the B Minor Mass.

Louis H. Bean, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., recovery, industrial production and employment on a higher basis than 1934-1937 is likely only if: 1. Federal and heavy industry at least equals 1934-37. 2. Continued expansion of housing activity. 3. Increase in public utilities and railroad expenditures. 4. Increased foreign demand for wheat, cotton, rearmament supplies.

Virgil Jordan, president, national industrial conference board, (an organization chiefly supported by big industries), New York:

"Assuming that the American economic system is not subjected to further damage by the domestic and foreign policies of government employees, business activity will probably increase moderately during this year and the average level will be higher than in 1938, but I do not expect recovery for the ten-year depression during the next two years."

Dale Yoder, University of Minnesota, likewise said he "forecasts no significant business improvement in the next two years."

Alexander Bittelmann, economist for the Communist party:

"Most disturbing immediate factor for business improvement is economy drive in congress. Public ownership of railroads and enlarged housing program would greatly improve short and long range prospects. Most important is nationalization of banks. Increased armaments as part of program for national and social security undoubtedly exercises favorable influence on business prospects."

Charles L. Stewart, University of Illinois: "Weather conditions favor 1939 farm production in middle west. Volume of crops not likely to equal 1938. Livestock and livestock products increasing. War hazards or no war hazards, civilian demands in United States have potential capacities to provide swift and full recovery. Price and wage disparities, however, continue to hamper recovery under private initiative. Pushed hard in the future, pump-priming may bridge gap but solution of disparity problem remains essential if full and permanent recovery comes."

TWO NEW FIRMS ORGANIZED HERE

Girault-Touchstone Insurance Agency And Finance Company Announced

The announcement of two new businesses for Monroe was made yesterday by H. K. Touchstone, for many years a successful executive here. They are the Girault-Touchstone Insurance agency and the Three Way Finance company, located in adjoining offices at 10 Amman building.

Although the two institutions will be located in adjoining offices and Mr. Touchstone will be actively associated with each, they will be operated as separate businesses. It was announced. E. S. Girault, well known Monroe insurance expert, will be associated with Mr. Touchstone in the partnership of the insurance agency, while J. C. Loftin, for several years the manager of a local finance company, will be manager of the Three Way Finance company. The companies will be open for business Monday, it was announced.

Mr. Touchstone came to Monroe 25 years ago and he quickly assumed an outstanding place in the business, civic and social life of the city. He held important executive with many successful civic projects. He served two years as president of the Lakeside Country club during which the club enjoyed most successful activities.

Mr. Girault also is well known here and he is thoroughly versed in all branches of insurance. He announced yesterday that the new agency would represent the following insurance companies: The General Insurance company of America, Fidelity and Guaranty company, Ltd., Sea Insurance company, Ltd., United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, Employers Liability Assurance corporation and the Sun Life Assurance company of Canada. All are well known, old line companies.

Mr. Loftin, who has had many years of experience with finance companies, said the local firm would make personal loans, loans on endorsement, chattel mortgage loans and automobile loans.

The two new companies are home owned and home operated, and in the future it is the purpose to establish branches elsewhere in the state.

TENNESSEE FIRM BOUGHT BY TVA

range approximately $3,000,000 in cash in return for the common stock of Tennessee Electric Power, all of which is owned by Commonwealth and Southern. In addition, the company receives something under $3,000,000 in other assets applicable to the common, which have a book value of $17,000,000.

Heretofore, New Deal utility administrators have refused to recognize common stock or equity values in similar transactions.

TVA, it was understood here, pays par value for the bonded investment of the company. Bonds will be redeemed at par under a "liquidation escape" clause. The indenture covering outstanding bonds would have provided from 5 to 10 points premium above par if called.

Under the agreement, preferred stockholders also will be paid par for their holdings.

Commonwealth and Southern corporation owns about $7,000,000 in bonds and about $750,000 in preferred stock, which it invested in Tennessee Electric Power and will receive back the full book value of its investment.

As soon as technical details of the present arrangement have been worked out, including TVA's allocation of purchased properties to municipalities in its area, Wilkie and TVA negotiators will try to work out a similar agreement covering Commonwealth and Southern's electric properties in northern Alabama and Mississippi.

Utility executives consider this impending negotiation of even greater importance since it is understood that Wilkie will press for a definite promise which will mark the extent of TVA's future operations.

Wilkie said he believes this to be the first step in a new understanding which he hopes will end further expansion of government competition with private business.

Wilkie predicted that privately owned utilities in the United States would spend not less than $1,000,000,000 a year in new capital outlay each year for the next three or four years if the administration went a few steps further and:

1. Made a definite pledge not to "compete with private business in the utility field" in any new areas.

2. Took steps to prevent further PWA loans to states or municipalities for non-federal "competition" of this nature.

3. "Clarified" policies under the public utilities holding company act of 1935.

4. Ceased "continued attacks" against the utilities.

Hugh D. Miser, chief of the fuels section of the logical survey, estimates sources within the United States are ample to supply this nation with gasoline 2,000 years.

weather bureau predicted a crest of 26 feet—one foot above flood.

Serious damage does not occur there until a stage of 30 feet is reached. Water rose two feet above the 50 foot stage at Huntington, while upriver Point Pleasant, where the Kanawha enters the Ohio, veteran rivermen revised downward their crest forecasts and little inconvenience was seen for the old river town.

Red Cross and flood emergency agencies were at work along a broad front in West Virginia and Kentucky, where smaller streams wrought the greatest damage. The Buckhannon river in the central section was falling and 500 homeless trekked back to shelter.

ESTIMATE 5,000
FAMILIES HOMELESS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(P)—The Red Cross estimated tonight that more than 5,000 families were homeless because of heavy floods in Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky.

The agency said food and clothing were being rushed to all stricken areas, and that Red Cross field workers were making arrangements to house the flood victims.

The following list of stricken towns and counties, with the number of homeless families in each, was issued:

Ohio: Ironton, 50 families (expects peak flood of 52 to 55 feet; seawall 60 feet).

West Virginia: Huntington, 350 families; Point Pleasant, 40; Wayne county, 100; Lincoln county 47.

Tennessee: Knox county, 250; Jellico, 22; Roane county, 20; Anderson county, 15.

Kentucky: Ashland, 40; Catlettsburg, 35; Rowan county, 20; Magoffin, 100; Floyd county, 1,500; Breathitt county, 400; Perry county, 100; Harlan county, 200; Bell county, 350; Knox county, 75; Whitley county, 200; Cumberland, 10; McLean county, 250; Henderson county, 350.

The chief executive flatly branded these reports "a deliberate lie" and said that some legislators and newspaper owners were deliberately misrepresenting his viewpoint on foreign affairs.

He asserted that his foreign policy had not changed and would not be changed. This policy, he said, included opposition to entangling alliances, maintenance of world trade, sympathy for every effort to reduce armaments, and the peaceful maintenance of political.

House said, the president has turned his attention to the imminent new army and navy appointments.

Aside from Leahy and Craig, numerous other officers in key posts are slated to step down in a few months. They include Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, whose services in that capacity the president ordered extended, and Major General Albert J. Bowley. Both retire for age.

The navy's aeronautics bureau chief, Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, soon must go to sea, and the four-year term of Major General Frank M. Andrews, commander of the army's mobile general headquarters air force, expires February 23. Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, naval chief of engineering, is near the end of his term. Rear Admiral Charles Conrad will be out in April as chief of supplies and accounts.

except in the event of an emergency. The retirement statutes apply only to rear admirals and lesser navy officers, but army officials without exception, it was explained. As chief of operations and the navy's top-ranking officer, Leahy has the rank of full admiral, confirmed by congress two years ago.

It was clear today that there was a conflict of opinion among some committee members as to whether this press conference statement could be reconciled with the impression they took away from Tuesday's meeting.

One Democratic member who declined to permit his name to be used, said he could readily see how President Roosevelt might have been discussing at the conference the detailed methods by which he proposed to carry out the broad program enunciated yesterday and that some of his hearers might not have understood this.

Some of the committeemen had suggested that, to clear up the matter, a stenographic record of what the president had said be made public. They said they understood one had been made.

However, Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said today no record was kept. He added that it was contrary to White House practice to keep stenographic records of any conference of this kind.

One Republican member of the senate committee, who also asked anonymity, also took the view that much of what the president said Tuesday might be considered to be a frank discussion in a secret meeting of methods he proposed to use in implementing his later announced program.

Another development relating to foreign affairs was announcement by Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, that he would introduce a resolution radically amending the present neutrality laws.

Value of Recreation Recognized . . .

MONROE and West Monroe didn't wait until recent days—this modern era of welfare agitation—to recognize the value of recreation. Sports and play have, for years, occupied their proper places in the life of the communities.

That doesn't mean that they have been over-emphasized. It does mean, however, that they haven't been under-emphasized. The Twin Cities have, for several decades, been aware of the revitalizing effects of recreation.

Being the domicile of a college, three high schools and a training school; the home of the Monroe Baseball Club and two softball leagues; and the headquarters of a couple of semi-pro baseball organizations and an amateur basketball circuit, Monroe and West Monroe enjoy a year-around sports program. Baseball, football, basketball, boxing, softball—there is scarcely ever lacking some sort of sports event for the residents of the Twin Cities to witness.

But those games fall mostly in the spectator classification. And Monroe and West Monroe have more than spectator sports to offer. They provide means of play for both their adults and their children. Just to mention a few: a free swimming pool, two excellent golf courses, free tennis courts, free supervised playgrounds for children in the summer and a free indoor recreation center throughout the year. These are in addition to three public parks that would do credit to cities three or four times as large as Monroe and West Monroe combined.

Since it is the larger of the Twin Cities, Monroe supplies most of the facilities for recreation; but residents of both communities have always felt (and acted on that assumption) that what one place has, the people of the other are welcome to share.

Nature, too, has made its contributions to recreation in Monroe and West Monroe. Both hunting and fishing are good in the vicinity of the communities. And Ouachita River, which flows between them, is ideal for boating and other aquatic sports.

The Monroe White Sox and Ouachita Parish High school's girls' basketball team set the pace in the field of sports during the past year, the baseball club by winning the championship of the Cotton States League, the cagers by retaining their state title. Nevertheless, many of the teams in the other branches of athletics turned in creditable performances.

After acquiring a park some 35 years ago, Monroe has added steadily to its recreational facilities, which now include another park, a swimming pool second to none in the nation, a fine golf course and a number of free tennis courts. In recent years, West Monroe made a very definite contribution toward community play—a park with a golf course second to none in this section.

Within the past decade, Monroe created a recreation department, which devotes itself principally to supervised play for children. However, it has contributed materially to adult recreation.

Sports that have merited it and recreation have never lacked support in Monroe and West Monroe. As a result, they have grown with the communities.

'HELLO AMERICA' PROGRAM SLATED

Will Be Held By V. F. W. On February 15; Large Class To Enter

For the eighth successive year, the "Hello America" radio program of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be broadcast over a nationwide network by the National Broadcasting company. Announcement of the unique radio feature was made here Saturday by Commander E. H. Miller, of the Rodney J. Hobbs post. Wednesday, February 15, at 11:30 p. m. and lasting for an hour, the program will be broadcast, time given being that of Monroe.

The program will be sent from Boston, Mass., which also will be the scene of the 1939 V. F. W. national encampment next August. The "Hello America" hour will feature an address by Senator Bennett C. Clark, of Missouri; brief speeches by Mrs. Anna Mae Lochner, St. Petersburg, Fla., national V. F. W. auxiliary president; Governor Leveelett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Mayor M. J. Tobin of Boston. There will also be an address and the administering of the oath of obligation to a nationwide class of recruits by Commander-in-Chief Eugene I. Van Antwerp, Detroit, Mich.

Approximately 3,700 posts of the V. F. W. are now engaged in an intensive membership campaign which will culminate February 15 in the "Hello America" program when individual classes of new members, assembled in post headquarters in cities and towns of the country, will repeat the solemn words which will make them members of the overseas organization. Famous bands and orchestras, playing from various parts of the country, will contribute special musical selections to the success of the program.

"February 15, the eighth annual 'Hello America' radio hour is specially significant to our organization," said Commander Miller. "The V. F. W. is composed of overseas veterans of America's wars. Because thousands of our members fought in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, in the Spanish-American war, we especially observe February 15, the anniversary of the sinking of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, the immediate cause of the war. February 15, 1939, will mark the 41st anniversary of the sinking of the Maine."

W. are now engaged in an intensive membership campaign which will culminate February 15 in the "Hello America" program when individual classes of new members, assembled in post headquarters in cities and towns of the country, will repeat the solemn words which will make them members of the overseas organization. Famous bands and orchestras, playing from various parts of the country, will contribute special musical selections to the success of the program.

"February 15, the eighth annual 'Hello America' radio hour is specially significant to our organization," said Commander Miller. "The V. F. W. is composed of overseas veterans of America's wars. Because thousands of our members fought in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, in the Spanish-American war, we especially observe February 15, the anniversary of the sinking of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, the immediate cause of the war. February 15, 1939, will mark the 41st anniversary of the sinking of the Maine."

ORANGE JUNGLE TO MAKE OPENING BOW

Located in a new and modernistic building and equipped throughout with new fixtures and furnishings, Frank's Orange Jungle, 200 North Second street, will be formally opened to the public Monday. An eight-ounce tumbler of orange juice, a specialty drink at the establishment, will be given each person who visits there during the day.

Frank Palmer, well known local restaurateur, is the operator of the Orange Jungle. The new shop will serve sandwiches, light lunches, special orders, delicious coffee, pies and various other items, including tobacco, candy and chewing gum.

Mr. Palmer said he had carefully selected the personnel of the Orange Jungle and that the establishment was prepared to give the busy, hungry, work-a-day public, or persons dropping in for relaxation and a drink or light snack, prompt, efficient and courteous service.

Having general appointments of stained oak, and supporting colors of a bright and buoyant nature, the Orange Jungle bears out its name in the atmosphere prevailing there.

FINE FOR KIDNEY AND BLADDER WEAKNESS

STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS AND FEEL YOUNGER

Keep your blood more free from waste matter, poisons and acid by putting more activity into kidneys and bladder, and you should live a healthier, happier and longer life.

One efficient, safe and harmless way to do this is to get from your druggist a 55 cent box of Gold Medal Haxlorn Oil Capsules and take them as directed—the swift results should delight you.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble may be backache, shifting pains, puffy eyes.

Few Big Game Animals Are Found In Louisiana

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(Special)—Although 73,377 hunters bought licenses in Louisiana during 1937, there was little for them to hunt in the way of big game, the bureau of biological survey reported today.

A census of big game throughout the United States in 1937 placed Louisiana in 38th place with a little more than 2,000 white-tailed deer and about 50 black bears.

During 1937, 72,822 residents of the state and 555 non-residents or aliens paid $76,687 for hunting licenses. This was a substantial increase when compared with the 69,262 residents and 434 non-residents or aliens who paid $69,606 for licenses in 1936.

Federal duck stamps sold in Louisiana totaled 19,366 in 1937 compared with 13,721 the year before.

5,000,000 BIG GAME ANIMALS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—This may startle a lot of city folk, but the government says 5,000,000 big game wild animals are loose in the United States.

There are only two areas without them—Delaware, which has not a single peccary, and the District of Columbia.

Who knew, for instance, that 300 European wild boars are snorting and foraging through North Carolina? Or that a dozen black bears are browsing in the wilds of Ohio and

LOCKWOOD RITES HELD SATURDAY

The funeral of Joseph Edwin Lockwood, 63, former well known Monroe business man who died after a long illness at his home in West Monroe, Friday, was held at the First Methodist church in West Monroe Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. C. K. Smith, assisted by Rev. Ernest D. Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was in Hasley cemetery.

L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, of which he was a member, had charge at the grave.

Active pallbearers were Dr. J. R. Henry, W. P. McCoy, Berry Yeldell, Howe Clampt, F. L. Strickland, T. C. Drew, R. E. Rushing and W. A. Kirkpatrick.

Honorary pallbearers were: R. W. Bandy, Marshall Downs, C. C. Bell, W. R. Herron, R. M. McClendon, H. S. Snyder, John P. McKee, R. J. Wilbanks, Louis Rinehart, Dr. J. W. Goldson, S. C. McConnell, R. L. Mitchell, J. W. Collins, G. W. Hyle, P. M. Atkins, and Herman M. McGuire.

Mr. Lockwood is survived by his wife, one daughter and one son: Miss Camille Lockwood, West Monroe; and Preston Lockwood, Houston, Tex. Also he leaves the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. T. H. Wallace, Houston, Tex.; Mrs. Mae Acklin, Austin, Tex.; P. S. Lockwood, Tyler, Tex.; and J. A. Lockwood, Richmond, Tex.

LOCAL CHILD MAKES BID FOR FILM ROLE

Jane Wallace, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace, who reside near the Dixie-Overland highway about three miles west of West Monroe, is appearing in the Children's Radio Workshop program broadcast each Saturday from Radio Station KFWB, Hollywood, Calif., and is making a bid for a role in the screen version of "Gone With the Wind," according to information received here by friends.

A picture of the child entertainer, in connection with announcement of the radio program in which she appears, was published recently in a Hollywood newspaper.

Jane's mother is with her in Hollywood.

Before going to Hollywood, Jane received several years' instruction from local dance, music and dramatic art instructors. She appeared in several amateur stage productions here.

Several local and state officials have wired officials of the Selznick studio at Hollywood, urging them to give a role in "Gone With the Wind" to the Louisiana child.

NEW FARM TO MARKET ROADS WILL BE BUILT

The WPA is ready to open three new units of its state-wide farm to market highway program, according to James H. Crutcher, state administrator.

In Sabine parish approximately $94,114 will be expended in paving 18 miles of road including the San Patrice, Spring Creek and Sardia Loop roads. A total of 306 WPA workmen will be employed in clearing 45 acres of land.

Approximately 11 miles of a farm to market road between Vernon and Eros, in Jackson parish, will be developed by 75 men in a project estimated to cost $64,330. About 26,050

PREPARE PLANS FOR COURTHOUSE

Structure At Vidalia Will Replace Building Erected In 1852

The architectural firm of J. W. Smith and Associates is engaged in preparing plans and specifications for the new courthouse to be erected at Vidalia and which will cost approximately $100,000. Bids will be opened on March 20.

Originally it was planned to receive WPA financial aid but later it was decided to erect the structure with parish funds exclusively.

The building will be 46 feet by 100 feet and will be three stories in height with jail on the top floor. It will be erected of reinforced concrete with exterior of brick and stone, and will be fireproof.

The old courthouse, which was erected in 1852 and is one of the oldest in the state, is now being dismantled.

The site of Vidalia is being moved back a mile or more from the Mississippi river as protection from high water.

Walt Whitman served as a clerk in the treasury department of the United States from 1865 to 1873, after having been dismissed from the interior department because of writing "Leaves of Grass."

A MESSAGE TO MY FRIENDS

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I will tell you part of a restaurant man's life:

All the other people in business, they have more time for pleasure and enjoyment of life. It is difficult for the restaurant man to have happiness and enjoyment in his life. I always have pleasure to serve the public with a smile in the best way I know how. It is hard to please everybody's appetite and ways, and means, for instance, a fellow feels grouchy, another fellow had his difficulties at home, another one his car wouldn't start and all these could happen before he reaches his destination. A restaurant man plays an important part in this human life, after all you have to eat and drink to live, so the restaurant man is a slave 365 days a year, day and night.

All that he accomplishes is a swollen head, flat feet and disfigured body.

Now my good friends I am a restaurant man, come to see me and I will be glad to serve you. Thank you,

Frank Palmos

BLIND YOUTH TO OPEN CONCESSION

Billy Torrey Will Operate Refreshment Stand in Monroe Postoffice

A refreshment stand to be operated by Billy Torrey, 22, blind West Monroe man, will be opened in the lobby of the Monroe postoffice Monday morning, it was announced yesterday afternoon by Louis Berdani, Jr., supervisor of vending stands for the state board for the blind.

The refreshment stand will be the seventh established in public buildings over the state by the state board for the blind. Several weeks ago a similar stand was established in the lobby of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

Like the courthouse stand, the concession will sell cigarettes, chewing gum, mints, candy, cold drinks and other items, and in addition will sell magazines, newspapers and postcards bearing views of Monroe.

Young Torrey will operate the postoffice stand as his own business, with the exception of a small portion of the gross receipts which will go back to the state board for repair and maintenance costs.

Mr. Berdani will work with Torrey for about ten days, instructing him in matters pertaining to the operation of the stand, acquainting him with the location of the various items of stock and showing him how to keep books of the business.

Torrey graduated last June from the State School for the Blind, receiving an accredited high school diploma. He is proficient in the Braille system of reading and writing, and will use this system in keeping business records.

After he had passed the sixth grade of public school, Torrey suffered an attack of measles, followed by influenza, and became almost wholly blind. He has no vision in his right eye, and has only fifteen two-hundredths of normal vision in his left eye. That amount of vision comes under the legal classification of total blindness.

Torrey and Mr. Berdani invite the public to visit the postoffice concession stand Monday and to assist in launching the modest enterprise into the business world.

Mr. Berdani and Torrey expressed appreciation for permission granted by Postmaster J. R. Wooten for operation of the stand.

100 TREES PLANTED
BONITA, La., Feb. 4.—(Special)—In a project sponsored by the civics class of the Bonita High school, 100 trees contributed by the state highway department have been planted on the school grounds and in the town park by students of the school. The work was done under supervision of Joe Whitfield, agriculture teacher.

BURGLAR INSURANCE CHECK PAID OVER

A check for $1,000, representing insurance coverage of a recent burglary loss at the Eureka Grocery No. 2, located at 2301 South Grand street, was presented to I. W. Rogers and J. B. Bradley, owners of the store, during the past week by Sam H. Humphries, president of the Humphries Insurance agency, 315 Wood street, West Monroe.

The check was drawn on the account of the Globe Indemnity company, represented in the Monroe area by Mr. Humphries' agency.

Burglars termed by police as being "professionals," broke into the grocery on the night of Saturday, January 14, and broke open the safe with a charge of nitroglycerine. Receipts of the day, in cash and checks, as well as about a dozen cartons of cigarettes, four or five cartons of chewing gum and a box of cigars, were the loot of the intruders.

BREECE IS PLEASED WITH MONROE VISIT

C. M. Breece, son of Colonel George Breece of Albuquerque, N. M., and a brother of the late George Breece of Monroe, was a visitor to Monroe the past week. His father is the head of the Breece Lumber company of New Mexico, and one of the most influential business men of that state, owning a number of large mills and a vast acreage of timber.

The visit to Monroe was the first that C. M. Breece has made in several years and he complimented the city in many respects.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

COPYRIGHT, 1938

BY BETTY WALLACE

CHAPTER XXVIII

Judy knew, looking into the mirror before she went out to meet Dwight Campbell, that she had no right to do this. Jack Hanley's ring was on her finger. As she powdered her nose, the ring moved, it was so loose. She had forgotten to wind the string around it, to make it tighter.

Yet the girl in the mirror looked back at her with eyes that glowed with happiness. The softly curved mouth was not smiling, but in its corners there was none of the weary droop she had come to know so well, looking at herself innumerable times before she went out to face people.

Her pale gold hair waved around her face. The high forehead, the creamy skin, made a lovely picture. Not like Marvel of course. Not red-headed and spectacular and challenging. You'd never fail to notice Marvel, no matter where she was. She was an eyecatcher. Yet Dwight would rather be with Judy.

Her mother had gone to Mrs. Lane's, for which Judy was thankful. Not that mother ever questioned her suspiciously when she went out but—her heart sank. Dwight was making her do so many things she had never done before! Why did it have to be so clandestine? It was only a harmless meeting. Just to talk for a few minutes. But the ring on her finger silently reproached her. She shouldn't be going.

She got into her car, almost defiantly.

Dwight was already waiting on the corner where they had met so unexpectedly, last time. He got into the car, saying, "I'm so glad you came! Things have been tough for me." He added, "You're looking beautiful."

"Don't, Dwight."

"But I mean it. You're like a—like a cool, soothing hand. The way you look is restful. Lovely. Friendly."

She laughed uncertainly. They drove for a few blocks, and then she said, "We oughtn't do this. We might—"

"Might run into someone who knows us, eh?" His voice was bitter. "After all—"

"Narrowminded fools!" Judy's knuckles were white on the wheel. "But you are married, Dwight. And I'm engaged."

"That doesn't give dirty gossip a right to take pot shots at us."

"But—but—"

"Oh, I know, I've taken you into my arms, kissed you. I guess it sticks out all over me that I love you."

"You don't love me, Dwight," she said. "You're just lonely. You've had a bad shellacking, you're angry with your wife." She parked the car where they could look out at the water.

"Wife! She's getting a divorce," Dwight said.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes. I told you, she's going to Reno."

Judy remembered Cary Tennant's narrow, predatory eyes, the aquiline cut of his nose. She said, "I'm sorry, Dwight."

"Why should you be sorry? I'm not. It was a mistake. Right from the first. We were never meant for each other. She's a spoiled, rich, selfish girl; and I'm a hard-working man who must maintain a difficult discipline."

"You're not maintaining it now, are you? Neither one of us. Yes, Dwight—that's true. The navy has a stubborn discipline. They'd be hard to explain to if they ever—"

"That's making a mountain of a molehill," he said impatiently. "Our personal lives are our own. What I meant was that Marvel threw a fit every time I had to go to sea. I don't know what she'd have done if there had happened to be major fleet exercises—if I'd have had to leave her for months at a time."

"Just how much does your career mean to you, outside of getting ahead?" Judy asked suddenly. "Outside of the glamor and the promotion—what is there for you?"

"Glamor?" he repeated. "Precious little glamor in it. And if you mean do I love the smell of sea air, and the bucking of a destroyer in heavy weather, and all the other poetical and half-baked stuff ensigns spout—why—no, of course not. It's a hard life, and a narrow one. But it has its compensations."

"Getting to be an admiral?" she asked. "The taste of power—four starred blue flags and being piped over the side and 12-gun salutes. That what you mean?"

"That's glamor, too, and precious few ever get it."

"Still, it's what you mean, isn't it?"

He did not deny that. She said thoughtfully, "You don't really love it. You could live without it. It isn't everything to you. You dread being passed over, and yet if you were, it wouldn't be a tragedy. You're self-sufficient, Dwight, and sooner or later your ambition would shape itself into some other career."

"How did we happen to get talking about this?" he asked. "Let's talk about the moon."

"I was thinking," she said. "Just thinking. Do you know, Dwight, my father collects books naval engagements, full-rigged ships, the old Iron Navy—even sea chanteys and ballads. He—"

"And I suppose," he broke in acidly, "that Hanley collects dirigible history?"

"He does," she replied quietly. "Airships from the first balloons through Count von Zeppelin right up to Captain Lehmann's book."

"Because I don't, I'm not—"

"No," she said quickly. "No, that's not what I meant. It's just—oh—you don't understand."

"I understand this," he said, and reached for her. She cried, "Please don't, please don't!" She felt suddenly so ashamed, so soiled. How cheap this was! The feverish longing and the weary hopes that wore her out when she was away from him had changed into only this feeling of meanness, of humiliation that they should have to hide to be together. It spoiled everything. Destroyed the ache for his arms, the charm of his handsome face. Even the magic that his voice had once been able to work over her was gone. She knew only that she didn't want to be cringing in her car, away from the curious eyes of people, when all her soul longed for cleanliness, for the right to be free and proud.

An oncoming car swept its headlights over them, picking them out for a moment with a merciless flood of light. Judy cowered away from it, and then the car was alongside. It had stopped.

A woman's voice said bitterly, "So that is what you're up to!" With a gasp, Judy recognized Marvel's throaty tones.

Mrs. Kellogg And 2 Daughters To Leave

Wooten Family Gathers At Home; Mrs. Thornhill Will Join Martha Jane Hill In Galveston

SOUTHERNERS who leave the sunny shores of Dixie to dwell in northern climes long to be at home again when camellia blooming time arrives. They suddenly realize that man does not live by bread alone. Like the man who had two loaves and sold one to buy white hyacinth to feed his soul, they would gladly sacrifice a loaf for a few camellias from old southern gardens.

Most of the guests attending the tea at the Lotus club on Tuesday considered it the chic thing to pin a camellia beneath their chins. Almost everyone who knew was wearing either pure white camellias or those gorgeous variegated ones of pink and white and others of rose color. The superb white ones worn by Anna Speed with her black tulle were among the most beautiful worn that afternoon. Aimee Kimball, however, wore two pink ones that glorified her ensemble. Aleta Frizzell pinned a variegated pink and white one to her collar of her coat. The Madison-Davenport tea was such a fascinating affair. Everyone was shaking hands and enjoying the charming hospitality that seemed to spread all over the club from the foyer, through the spacious lounge to the library where candles glimmered against the dark oak paneling and myriad flowers exuded their fragrance. The guests formed a hectic tea and coffee drinking line around the refreshment table and feasted on the good food, the supply of which seemed to be quite endless. The trays were forever being replenished by white clad attendants.

It is hello and goodbye these days when friends meet. Some one is forever rushing off on a sea cruise and others are returning home browned by the tropical sun and exuding health and happiness. One learned from Daisy Haas and Dorothy Sholar, just home from the Caribbean with their husbands, Morris and Allan, that their ship, the Rotterdam, capital of the island of Curacao, virtually side one looks onto the streets on the far side of which rises the Dutch garden where the camellias are now blooming. It must have been the thoughts of her girlhood home in the early springtime that decided Ching to pack her duds and leave the ice and snow of the east for the time being at least.

It is camellia blooming time in the Dean Selig gardens. Two hundred bushes, nourished and cared for diligently by Dean, are now repaying him for his tireless efforts by blooming extravagantly. They are not born to bloom unseen, however. Scarcely a day passes that Mrs. Selig is not seen carrying large trays of choice blooms to friends. And what a joy they are to those who have never learned the art of flower culture.

Life never grows stale or prosaic for Katie Mae Thornhill. She has many irons in the fire and, in addition to being the perfect housewife and one of Monroe's most gracious hostesses with a flair for distinctive entertaining, has a perfect yen for travel. Soon she will be joining her niece, Martha Jane Hill, in Galveston following her tour with other classmates at Stephens college. Martha Jane will visit in Washington and New York and then sail for Miami Beach, landing in Galveston early in March. Katie Mae will meet her there and they will have several pleasant days together.

Suzanne Kellogg, home from the skiing country in northern Michigan with Walter who was business bent, regretted that teas and luncheons planned by her aunt, Irma McLurg, kept her from frolicking in the snow. Time didn't permit a skiing expedition or even one toboggan slide down the ice covered hills. Suzanne's kinkles were so glad to see her and so eager to introduce her to their friends, only the social side of life was considered.

Louise Kellogg and her two sub-doll daughters are wearing the smiles of those who know they will soon be basking in the sun of the tropics on their way to Buenos Aires. They will leave next Tuesday for New York City and on the tenth will board the steamer Brazil sailing down to Rio. Eighteen days at sea, each way, will consume a great portion of their time. They will leave their ship and spend glorious weeks below the equator enjoying the eternal springtime in Rio de Janeiro, Trinidad and Buenos Aires. It seems a shame for Louise to leave her lovely little home, just recently redecorated, for even a little while. It looks so shining and new and during the holidays looked like an old-fashioned Christmas card with its holly wreaths and candles burning in the low windows. Happy days are anticipated, however, traveling with two daughters who are vitally alive, thirst for knowledge and the ideal American girls in every respect.

May Wooten is radiantly happy these days—and no wonder, for she is surrounded by her entire family. The arrival of Ching and little daughter from New York last week made the family party quite complete. The Wooten home, one of the few that boasts an ante-bellum background, is the scene daily of little cliques—friends of a lifetime who love the atmosphere created by this happy family and are continually dropping in for a cup of tea or for a walk in May's

Miss Garrett Weds James O. Roquemore
Claiming the interest of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Bonnie Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Garrett of Haynesville, to Mr. James O. Roquemore, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Roquemore of Homer.
The ceremony was performed by Dr. H. E. Kirkpatrick of the First Baptist church of Minden at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 30, in the presence of the bride and bridegroom's families and their immediate friends.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a beige costume suit with a fox fur trim. Her accessories were of japonica tan and she wore a corsage fashioned of orchids and lilies of the valley.
Miss Edith Greer, Mrs. Roquemore's only attendant, was smartly attired in a British tan ensemble, with accessories to match. She wore a corsage of sunset carnations. Mr. S. C. Culpepper of Minden served as best man.
The bride, a young lady of considerable personal charm, was a junior at Louisiana Tech.
Mr. Roquemore is a senior in the engineering school at Louisiana State University.
Mr. and Mrs. Roquemore will continue their college work at the state university.

Miss McCrary Is Guest Of Honor
Miss Peggy McCrary was a charming guest of honor Friday evening at a chicken spaghetti supper. The affair, which was given as a surprise on Miss McCrary's birthday, was attended by a group of members of the younger set, who enjoyed an informal dancing party after the supper. Guests attending were: Miss Margaret Butler, Kramer Haas, Miss Betty Evans, Carl Faser, Miss Beverly Farmer, Raymond West, Miss Beverly Peavy, Ben Francis, Miss Mary Ann Wilds, Pete McClenon, Miss Margaret Warren, Adis Bowles, Charles Reagan, William Bowles, Robert Wharton, Allen Meredith, Aubrey Young, Byron Grigsby, Miss Nancy Scoggins, Ed Roberts, Hiller Hoesdoffer, Betsy Woodall, Buddy Bubb, Ginger Bubb, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Underwood, Spec Medaris, Miss Zagone, and the honoree, Miss McCrary, and mother, Mrs. Pauline McCrary.

Mrs. Roger Hamilton is enjoying a visit of indefinite length with her daughter, Mrs. Excell Conn, of Edna, Tex. She was accompanied to Edna by her two daughters, Mrs. Roger Lee, of Shreveport, and Mrs. T. O. Trawick, of Mansfield.

Miss Henninger Will Marry Orleans Man

Engagement Is Announced Today Of Popular Monroe Girl To Norman Mendelsohn

All but a few intimate friends will be surprised at the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Henninger of the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor Lois, to Mr. Norman Mendelsohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Mendelsohn of New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Henninger will keep open house this afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6 complimentary to their daughter and her fiancé.
The prospective bride, one of the popular members of the younger set, attended the Louisiana State university and was graduated from the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa. She is a member of Sigma Delta Tau sorority.
Mr. Mendelsohn, a young business man of New Orleans, was graduated from the Ohio State university. He is a member of Delta Tau Phi fraternity.
The wedding of Miss Henninger and Mr. Mendelsohn will be an interesting and prominent event of the late spring.

Miss Ingledue To Appear In Drama

On the side of things artistic will be Dr. Grace Ingledue's interpretative review of "Beyond Human Power," by Bjornstjerne Bjornson, February 17 at Northeast Center auditorium.
There will be no admission charge, as this is Dr. Ingledue's annual courtesy presentation to the Speech club and friends who are interested.
The type of drama selected for these presentations has varied greatly. The first was a historical drama by an American playwright; the next year a philosophical drama by an English dramatist was selected; last year the historical comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," was interpreted; and now comes a drama of gripping power from the pen of a Scandinavian.
Toscoe Jensen, Scandinavian dramatic critic, says of this play: "Beyond Human Power" is surely one of the most remarkable dramatic works that the nineteenth century has produced. The scene is laid in Northland, the wonderful land of the midnight sun, where nothing appears commonplace and nothing seems impossible. The portrait of the pastor, Sang, is drawn with a warmth of admiration, an objectivity and a sympathy which actually nullify the argument of the piece, so that it becomes a gripping picture of religious genius and its power over men. The pastor has the faith which can move mountains; even the prejudiced skeptics are overwhelmed by his greatness and authority. But he is under a tension beyond human power. Bjornson's art in this piece is incomparable; its world of moods ranges from the gayly comic to the mightiest expression of religious ecstasy, and the action goes forward with a rapturous upward climb mounting steadily.
Like many Scandinavian dramatists, Bjornson causes his characters to speak of so many aspects peculiar to his country. One almost feels from contact with the drama as if having traveled in the Scandinavian countries.

Mrs. Charles Brown Of Texas Honored At Tea Given At Lotus Club Tuesday

Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Madison Hostesses

Mrs. David Garrett And Mrs. James Madison Assist In Extending Courtesies To The Guests

The Lotus club, society's favorite rendezvous, these days of late winter, was in festive floral attire on Tuesday when the spacious lounge, reception suite and library was thronged with beautifully gowned guests who were introduced to a charming visitor in the city, Mrs. Charles Brown of Alpine, Tex. Hostesses on this occasion were Mrs. Thomas Davenport and Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr.

Mrs. David Garrett, wearing a delphinium blue lace model and Mrs. James Madison, wearing a smart black chiffon model, stood in the flower banked foyer to extend greetings.

The hostesses stood with their guest of honor in the reception suite, fragrant with the perfume of many flowers—yellow daffodils, white hyacinths, purple and orchid iris, pale pink stock and pink roses—overflowing from narrow white porcelain urns gracing mantels, low coffee tables and tall floor standards.

Mrs. Madison wore a prunella chiffon semi-evening model with roses at her throat. Mrs. Davenport wore a hyacinth blue evening model of taffeta, with hoop skirt and tight fitting basque. Mrs. Brown was wearing a handsome black and moss green lace model with corsage of spring flowers. Mrs. George Madison, a member of the receiving line, wore a Madonna blue lace model with long full skirt, tight fitting basque and short puffed sleeves. Mrs. George Sealings, who assisted in the dining room, wore a marigold colored taffeta gown fashioned along Princess lines with square cut neck line.

The library with its paneled walls and beamed ceiling, offered a dignified setting for the placement of the refreshment table around which guests were continually rotating. The flowers, forming the central decor, were all in vivid, springtime colors—yellow tulips, blue delphinium, acacia, pink roses, and purple iris—with myriad slender yellow tapers in graduated lengths, burning in their midst.

Superb silver tea and coffee services, one at either end of the table, were presided over by Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. Thomas Munnholland, Mrs. F. G. Hudson, Mrs. Henry Bernstein and Mrs. John Potts. They all wore beautiful evening models.

Trays laden with pastry puffs, miniature sandwiches, salted nuts, crystallized fruits, luscious little cakes and a variety of sweetmeats, were passed continuously during the receiving hours.

The reception hours were from three to six but the guests lingered far beyond the specified time in this charming atmosphere created by two gracious hostesses.

Junior Gavel Club Holds Meeting

With charming informality, Mrs. L. A. Duffee entertained members of the Junior Gavel club Thursday afternoon in her home on Rochelle.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. L. Deloney, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. O. Boyce, vice-president, who welcomed to the club a new member, Mrs. D. L. Bornman. Roll call and the minutes were read by the secretary and each officer was called on for her report. After routine matters were discussed the business meeting was adjourned.

During the social hour tea was served, with Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., presiding at the urns, assisted by Mrs. Duffee. The tea table was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Members present were Mrs. John Naylor, Mrs. C. O. Boyce, Mrs. L. A. Duffee, Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., Mrs. D. L. Bornman and Mrs. G. V. McCaskill, Jr.

The next meeting of the club will be Thursday, February 16, with Mrs. Heard, 1513 North Fifth street.

Readers Clique Holds Meeting

Mrs. Amye B. Parks was the guest speaker on Wednesday afternoon when members of the Readers Clique met at the home of Mrs. Clyde Blanchard. Her lecture on "Drapes and Glass Curtains" was both interesting and instructive. She discussed in detail the correct methods and materials used in making them. She said in part, "The beauty of draperies and curtains depend largely on whether or not they hang gracefully. Correct hanging may be assured by carefully measuring both the windows and the material to be used. Drapes will also hang more gracefully if lined. It is a mistake to feel that if Venetian blinds are used, drapes are unnecessary. It is as important to the beauty of a room to use drapes with Venetian blinds as it would be with window shades. The softening effect of the drapes does much to make the windows a definite part of the room."

A short business session, presided over by Mrs. X. Holt, president, was held. Mrs. J. L. Whitfield, program chairman, presented her report on the year's work.

Mrs. Clyde Blanchard charmingly presented a clever reading, "Elvira Presides," during the social hour.

The books to be exchanged were distributed by Mrs. Burl Hollis to the following members present: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Clyde C. Blanchard, Mrs. W. Cecil Blanchard, Mrs. R. M. Cook, Mrs. Leon Dennis, Mrs. W. F. Hemler, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. X. Holt, Mrs. W. D. Lachhead, Mrs. Fred Randow, Mrs. H. B. Staples, Mrs. H. A. Taylor, Mrs. J. L. Whitfield, Mrs. R. C. Kester.

Guests present were Mrs. Amye B. Parks and Mrs. H. B. Bartleson.

Ann Wesley Allen Observes Birthday

Many Children Attend Charming Party Given At Business And Professional Women's Club

Ann Wesley Allen, daughter of Mrs. I. W. Allen, wore a delphinium blue crepe party frock and an exquisite corsage presented to her by one of her little friends, when she stood in the reception suite at the Business and Professional Women's club house to welcome guests invited to share the pleasures of her fourth birthday anniversary.

Games and contests created a perfect merry-go-round of fun throughout the afternoon with the cutting of the gorgeous birthday cake climaxing the pleasures. The delicious confection centered the refreshment table in the dining room where ices and individual cakes resembling Valentines, were served.

Mrs. Allen, assisted by Mrs. Richard Cotton, Mrs. Steve Powell, Mrs. Albert Davis and Mrs. J. H. Pankey, distributed Valentine favors and little baskets filled with confections among the guests before they departed for home.

The guests included: Diane Ducote, Carolyn Peters, Lynda Davis, Lynda Hair, John Naylor, Mary Nell Golsen, Bill Blanchard, Dick Guerriero, Mary son, Rosemary McGinn, Harry Bicknell, Horace Walter, Jr., Evelyn Steen, Louise Dernberg, Evans George, Jr.

Purple Jacket Club Gets New Members

The Purple Jacket club of Northeast Center has 15 new members, according to Miss Jane McKenzie, president.

Each year, at the end of the first semester, the club selects 15 girls for membership who excel in scholarship and leadership. Their duties range from serving as hostesses to visiting athletic teams, fostering good sportsmanship to forming "pep" squads for all athletic events.

The recent pledges are Mary Virginia Beard, Jonesville; Nelda Caldwell, Monroe; Florence Elker, Monroe; Lillian Guyones, Girard; Sara Frances Hinkle, Monroe; Marguerite Ikard, Monroe; Nell DeLee, Monroe; Mildred Mills, Calhoun; Carolyn Oliver, Monroe; Lucille Pugh, Rayville; Beth Rinehart, West Monroe; Louise Sanderson, Monroe; Patsy Slack, Monroe; Mary Joe Standley, Monroe; Sidney Ruth Waddle, Dallas, Tex.

Glee Club Will Present Program

The Ouachita Parish High School Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. George A. Moffett, will present on Monday the following assembly program for Northeast Center:

March of Civilization (Whitmer), A Little Sun, A Little Rain (Hueter), Gypsy Life (Schumann), by mixed glee club.

Piano solo, Liebestraum (Liszt), by Louise Hawkins.

I Hear A Thrush At Eve (Cadman), by Gene Wilder.

Lift Thine Eyes (Mendelssohn), Chiribiribin (Pestalozza), by small girls' chorus.

Jazz and Tap, Roy Whittington.

Reading, A Minuet (Louis Parker), by Martha McHenry.

Soldiers' Chorus (Gounod), by mixed glee club.

Passing By (Purcell), Down Mobile (Southern), by boys' glee club.

Song of Love (Fibich), the Green Cathedral (Hahn), by girls' glee club.

Betty McRoberts Observes Birthday

Nine young and lovelies, members of the sub-deb set, made a wish when they blew out the nine candles on Betty McRoberts' birthday cake and then cut the delicious confection following the luncheon arranged by Betty's mother, Mrs. C. E. McRoberts, in celebration of her ninth birthday anniversary.

The table was strewn with beautiful spring flowers and during the dessert course the birthday cake with its flaming tapers was placed before the celebrant.

Wishing their hostess a happy birthday and enjoying the charming courtesies extended by Mrs. McRoberts were Arden Girault, Billie Harper, Caroline Apperson, Miriam Oliver, Martha Stewart, Joan Meredith, Sara Louise Langford and Jacqueline Walker.

Study Club Meets At McHenry Home

"Joseph in the Wilderness" was reviewed with great sincerity of purpose and in dramatic manner by Mrs. William Rodriguez during the program hour when members of the Study club met with Mrs. Carl McHenry.

The social hour, always a feature of these meetings, permitted the hostess to serve a delectable salad course and coffee to Mrs. Lewis Slater, Mrs. E. K. Flournoy, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. D. X. Ellett, Mrs. Nelson Abell, Mrs. James D. Drew, Mrs. C. C. Boardman, Mrs. William Rodriguez, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Elmer Richards and Miss Carrie D. Drew.

Founder's Day Will Be Observed Locally

More Than 26,000 Parent-Teacher Groups Will Celebrate Beginning Of Organization

Parent-Teacher associations in Monroe are planning observance of "Founders' Day" on February 17 commemorating the forty-second anniversary of the organization of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Teas and special programs will be given by the various organizations, featured by specially made birthday cakes, topped by forty-two candles.

Mrs. Paul Blanchard, state president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association says:

"More than 26,000 associations all over America will be paying tribute to the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers on February 17, 1897. We are forty-two years old, comfortably middle-aged as the years go, but only in point of years lived out. For there is a remarkable toughness and elasticity in this forty-two-year-old congress. The years take their toll of its members; those early records are beginning to yellow appropriately, the patterns for administering the program grow antiquated and require adjustment from time to time in the light of developing needs, but the congress itself never grows old.

"For the congress magically tape the wellspring of eternal youth. It is privileged to deal directly, intimately with the young of the race, contemplating not just the problems of childhood, but living daily with these rare and lovely creatures themselves, sheltering them in the home, fostering them in the school. It enjoys constant and sweet communication with childhood. The congress can never grow old.

"A certain strength and elasticity has also been our heritage from our founders themselves. There was sparkle in those founders. No matter how high and serious their purpose, how consecrated their efforts, there was in them also a delightful sense of humor, as their early records show, that places them among the 'young in heart.' Their ardor and persistence give more than subtle hints of their personal vitality. They were, among other things, 'two smart girls' with the most far-reaching idea in progressive education in their generation."

Interest is centered this week in the Magiclan shows which will be given Tuesday afternoon and night at the Neville High school, sponsored by the Twin Cities' Council of Parent-Teacher associations.

Mrs. J. A. Castle, general chairman of the project, assisted by Mrs. King Hunt, has been busy perfecting plans and details for the event.

Featured in the shows will be the miraculous escape of Birch, the magician from a strong box, specially constructed and on display in a downtown window. Mr. Birch will be nailed in the box by Mr. E. L. Neville, superintendent of city schools, Dr. C. C. Colvert, dean at Northeast Center, Mr. Paul Neal, principal of Neville High school, and Chief of Police F. V. Reitzell during the night performance.

Mrs. Castle's co-workers are Mrs. G. A. Aden, Mrs. Elmer Richards, Mrs. A. R. Tidwell, Mrs. Charles Eby, Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, Jr., and Mrs. H. H. Land.

Those who will be in charge of tickets downtown Tuesday are Mrs. Guerriero, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Castle and Mrs. E. G. Courtney.

During the day the vanishing princess and her pony will visit the schools in Monroe.

Neville

There will be a most interesting program at Neville High school, Monday afternoon, when Mrs. King Hunt, president of the group, will address the group on "Parents and Children as Partners in Progress."

Miss Catherine Livaudais' rhythm band from Barksdall Faulk school will entertain with several musical numbers. Everybody is invited and all are assured of an afternoon of enjoyment.

Swartz

The Swartz P-T. A. met for the regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. John Scarf, music chairman, conducted the group singing, after which the president, Mrs. G. B. Wilson, led in prayer. Mrs. Dudley Stone, study group leader, presented members of her class in a show of drill, demonstrating work done in class. After the regular business session the following program was rendered:

Vocal solo—B. L. Helm.

Vocal quartet—Ruth Ellen Johnson, O'Neal Batson, Jamie Smith and Eva Jean Case.

Miss Marjorie Oliver of the city school system of Monroe made a most interesting talk on "Visual Education as a Partner in Progress." Miss Oliver, using a triangle as an illustration of education, showed the steps from the concrete base to the abstract apex.

She explained the necessity of the change of order in the system of teaching, showing why the system of going from the concrete to the abstract is the best system of educating the child. "Visual education," stated Miss Oliver, "is the major factor in this form of procedure.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Sapp's room (third grade) was presented with the room award. Mrs. Stone, assisted by her committee, Mrs. James Huskey and Mrs. Roy Cagle, served coffee and cake.

Clarks

"Modern Methods of Education" was the subject of the address made by Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school at Monroe, at the meeting of the Clarks unit of the P-T. A. held at the Baptist church on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Walter Crowell, president of the local unit, presided over the following program presented during the evening: Invocation, Rev. Paul Jones; "Star of Summer Night," played by a group of band students from the school band; Saxophone solo, "Sweet and Low," Helen Francis Harris; "Softly Now the Light of Day," by the band group; Trombone solo, "In the Gloaming," Jimmie Harrison; "Now the Day is Over," band group; Clarinet solo, "Lullaby," Mary Beth Lewis; song, "America," sung by the audience accompanied by the band group.

The guest speaker, Miss Rodgers, was introduced by Mrs. G. N. Harrison, chairman of P-T. A. programs.

The pupils of the first grade, Miss Sentelle Johns, teacher, were awarded the prize for having the largest number of mothers among those present at this meeting.

Bonita

Miss Meta Frances Ramsour, representing the civics class of the Bonita High school, made an inspiring talk to the P-T. A. group at its last meeting.

Miss Ramsour explained in detail the class plans for landscaping the new high school campus and asked for donation of funds and shrubbery for the beautification project.

Claiborne

The Claiborne school P-T. A. held its regular program meeting Thursday. The afternoon's discussions centered around the theme, "Visual Education as a Partner in Progress."

In one of the discussions it was brought out that conscientious teachers had been employing visual education to some extent in their school work down through the ages, but only recently it had gained in impetus. Then several questions were given about a cinema viewed lately, or a trip recently taken. A lively discussion resulted.

Mrs. S. G. Simmons, the president, offered a reward to the room having the greatest percentage of mothers enrolled before the drive for membership closed.

Mrs. Joe Durrett met with the study group at 2 o'clock. A very interesting discussion was given.

Mrs. Marie Wallace and Mrs. Frantom were noted among the visitors. The benefit program sponsored by the association, featuring the Hartford quartet, was acclaimed a huge success if sheer pleasure and amusement is one's goal, as a number of those present expressed the desire to have the program repeated at a later date.

Enterprise

The Enterprise P-T. A. held a box supper in the high school auditorium for the purpose of raising funds for the current expenses of the local P-T. A.

Captain Robert Lee of Detroit, Mich., is visiting his daughter, Mary Sue, who is making her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Mercer, of West Monroe.

Mrs. Tisdale Talks Before Alto Club

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of the Fifth district Federated Women's clubs, was guest speaker at a well planned meeting with the Alto Cultural club on Tuesday evening. Other guest speakers were Mrs. J. Norman Coon and Mrs. J. R. White.

The opening session was presided over by the president of the Alto club, Mrs. Noble Hatch. Mrs. Hatch is also state chairman of music.

The program began with the assembly singing "America the Beautiful," with Mrs. Hatch as pianist and Mrs. Coon leading the singing.

Mrs. W. T. Sartor, Jr., gave the address of welcome. Members of the Bono Nostrum club and the Junior club of Mangham were also guests at this meeting.

At this time Mrs. Tisdale was introduced and spoke to the clubs on the question, "How Do We Use the Odd Moment?" She said: "We are leaders in time and club women must remember that they are expected to take the initiative in planning nationwide movements. A wide awake club woman never grows old, and the way not to be forgotten is to do worthwhile things."

"When you develop your talent you gain a new outlook on life. It may be through poetry, art or music; but the main thing to remember is to learn to see with your mental glasses."

She spoke of the woman who says she is killing time as the woman who is killing herself, and the woman who lives the successful life as the woman who makes time live by making it useful.

Mrs. Coon, state chairman of state club institutes, led a discussion on club problems, and how they can be solved by holding club institutes in the individual clubs. She said: "Good leaders lead gladly and follow nobly," and added, "This is the day when our club women should be informed."

In closing, Mrs. Coon said that through club institutes club women learn better how to conduct club meetings and through the open discussion much information is gained.

Mrs. White, chairman of press and publicity in the Fifth district, spoke on this subject and urged the reporters to make every effort to get good reports for their clubs.

Adding a highlight to the evening's program was the solo by Mrs. Coon, "By the Bend of the River," by Clara Edwards. She was accompanied by Mrs. Noble Hatch. Another musical number of note was the clarinet solo by Lena McCoy, "Valse Caprice," by Cosmey.

Mrs. W. K. McConnell delighted the audience with a clever reading, "Trouble Enough."

At the close of the meeting the members were invited into the spacious club rooms, where spring flowers were placed advantageously throughout, and where a beautifully appointed table held a variety of confections.

Those privileged to enjoy this meeting were members of the Alto club as follows: Mesdames Louis Bledsoe, W. T. Sartor, Sr., J. A. Ball, John A. McCoy, D. R. Sartor, M. R. Hemler, L. J. Mulhern, R. M. McIntyre, J. B. Richardson, H. V. Collins, C. Noble Hatch and Miss Susie Alley.

Members of the Mangham Bono Nostrum club were Mesdames G. W. Humble, C. N. Underwood, J. E. Taylor, Alice Carraway, M. K. McConnell, W. C. Baker, E. D. Baker and Misses Kate Talbert, Mable Nash, Ethel Watson and Virgie Evans.

The Mangham Junior club: Mesdames Humble, Mattie Laura Adams, Edna S. Sims, Annie G. Childress, Sybil Tillman, Dorothy Stark, Inez Reynolds, Doris Terrill, Ola Cooper, Bessie Nobles, Mrs. F. Hatch and Mrs. F. M. Terral.

The visitors present were Mesdames A. D. Tisdale, J. Norman Coon, J. R. White of Monroe, and Mrs. M. D. McConnell and Miss Kate Gaddis.

WELL SUITED

Smart for travel to some southern resort now and to wear in next spring's Easter parade is this suit of wool herringbone. The cardigan jacket has four slit pockets and leather buttons. The huge bag has special compartments for everything any traveler possibly would need—including space for a collapsible umbrella.

This large gathering is done through the committees which function with fine precision. The allotment of membership on these committees is based on the number of members in each state and each state regent is asked to select the personnel from her state.

The pages add much to the pageantry of the congress, as well as perform specified duties, with service and courtesy as their watchwords. They are gowned in simple white dresses at all day sessions. They carry the state flags in the entrance processions and at the ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington. When the reception for the delegates is given at the White House the pages are received in a body and present an arm bouquet to the first lady. During the week, the president general and national board of management give a ball in honor of the pages exclusively.

Mrs. Lacey has appointed as pages from Louisiana: Miss Patricia Robertson, New Orleans, of the New Orleans chapter, who will carry the flag of Louisiana the evening when the state regent reads her report; Miss Nancy Mills, Shreveport, of the Shreveport 1776-1908 chapter, flower page.

Misses Mary Mills Hunt, Helen Hunt, Frances Langford and Mr. David Hunt have just returned from a motor trip to Los Angeles and southern California. They returned via the southern route due to heavy snows and bad weather which tourists were encountering over the northern route.

Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Magee and daughter, Shirley, are spending the week-end with relatives in Mississippi.

Frank Eason, student at the State Normal, Natchitoches, spent a few days last week with relatives in the city.

Mrs. J. H. McCullin was summoned to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. W. H. Hedgeth, who is ill at her home in DeRidder.

Mrs. C. L. Nelson and Mrs. D. P. Grant have returned from a motor trip to Mobile, Ala.

Friends will be glad to know that Mrs. Walter Meyer is now convalescing from injuries sustained in a recent accident. She is still confined indoors, however.

The Entre Nous club held its first meeting of this year at the home of Miss Opal Curry, with the president, Miss Annette Butitta, presiding. After the usual procedure, an open discussion of the coming events to be given by the club was held by the group. Following adjournment delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. King Hunt, president of the Twin City P-T. A. council extends an invitation to the public generally to be present at the Neville High school auditorium for the program to be presented by the famous magician, Birch, February 7, matinee and night.

The program, largest of its kind now on tour in this country, embraces the most remarkable and the most baffling array of illusions ever witnessed in this city. The most remarkable of all, perhaps, is the famous Hindu rope trick, which has for centuries been the most talked of feats of legerdemain. Slicing a beautiful girl into four parts, shooting a live canary into a burning light bulb, walking through a solid sheet of glass, causing a live pony to vanish in mid-air, and many other startling mysteries will be presented by this master magician and company in a magic potpourri of thrills and fun, says the committee in charge of the presentation.

Stanley Mintz, student at Tulane university, is spending the mid-term period with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mintz, and will return to New Orleans tonight.

Mrs. Meyer Bobrow of New York City is enjoying a visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Mintz, and Mr. Mintz in Fairview.

Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert is spending a few weeks in Chicago combining business with pleasure, and is a guest at the Brevoort hotel.

Mrs. Franklin Shaw, the much-feted guest of Mrs. Walter Black for the past two weeks, has returned to her home in Charlotte, N. C.

Charles Emerson Beams, student at the state university, spent his mid-term vacation period with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Grisham.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sholars and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Haas arrived home Monday morning from a 16-day cruise on board the steamer Rotterdam. They landed in New Orleans on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sutton announce the arrival of a son Robert Emmett, at St. Francis sanitarium.

Mrs. Harkness To Head Book Club

The Current Literature Book club held its annual luncheon on the roof of Hotel Virginia Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-seven members and their guests were seated around the handsomely appointed table. Crystal epergnes filled with pink camellias, the club flower, adorned the table. The place cards and programs were symbolic of the Valentine season.

Mrs. G. D. Holland, toastmistress, presided in charming and gracious manner throughout the interesting and inspirational program.

Mrs. P. A. Poag played the piano accompaniment for the members who sang in unison, "Song of Louisiana." Mrs. Poag also entertained with several brilliant instrumental numbers.

Mrs. J. R. White, press and publicity chairman for the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, was one of the guest speakers for the afternoon. Mrs. White gave a most interesting and helpful talk on "Publicity," using especially prepared posters of illustrate different phases of the work.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett presented to the members a talk on club work and the strength of the organization.

The following were elected as new officers for 1939-40: President, Mrs. F. T. Harkness; vice-president, Mrs. Dudley Stone; secretary, Mrs. William Whitfield; treasurer, Mrs. R. F. Seller; reporter, Mrs. George Guerriero; historian, Mrs. Mike John, Jr.; parliamentarian, Mrs. J. E. Kersh.

Members appointed for the year book committee were Mrs. John Best, Mrs. William Whitfield and Mrs. J. M. Menefee.

Mrs. Floy C. McKay, district international relations chairman for federated club women, gave an interesting talk on the business side of the club.

Mrs. McKay said: "From the world outlook today it seems that the international relations board hasn't functioned well, but we aren't discouraged because we have decided to tackle the problem."

"Much has been said on this subject, but views have been conflicting, they have served to confuse rather than help the informed public."

Mrs. McKay continued with an expression made by Professor Kendall of Louisiana State university, "There was never a time in the history of the world when people knew so much and knew so little what it all means."

"Club women rank in the top group among cultural women, and so it is not a challenge to us to finform people of the facts regarding problems of international relation," Mrs. McKay said. "Our first long step is study. The purpose of our club is not entertainment or social contact. The federated club has a deeper urge. Each woman should acquire herself with international problems so as to give intelligent support to the cause of peace."

Mrs. McKay touched on the subject of American neutrality, collective security, high tariffs, and the crop control plan in regard to problems concerning the woman of today.

Club members present were Mesdames R. L. Conway, Jr., V. S. Garnett, G. W. Guerriero, F. T. Harkness, G. D. Holland, Mike John, Jr., R. G. John, J. E. Kersh, J. C. Kramer, Jr., J. M. Menefee, Louis Peters, Dudley Stone, E. R. Whitaker, John Best, William Whitfield, R. F. Seller and G. M. Herdreich.

The guest list included Mesdames F. A. Farr, Warren Gregory, Paul Herron, J. E. Whitfield, J. E. Peters, P. A. Poag, C. R. Tidwell, J. R. White, Floy C. McKay and Joe Fuller.

Mrs. Nathan Gaston's entertainment of her Tuesday afternoon bridge club was charmingly informal. Beautiful spring flowers created a festive atmosphere in the reception suite where the tables were placed for bridge and the serving of a delicious salad course and coffee following the games.

The guests numbered: Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mrs. Joseph P. Brown, Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh, Mrs. Clyde Paine, Mrs. Ned Wilson, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Mrs. James A. Noe.

Members of the Stagecraft club of the Monroe Little Theater are now busily engaged in repainting and getting in order all sets and props for the next Little Theater production, "The Late Christopher Bean," to be presented at Northeast Center auditorium February 23.

'Kentucky' Opens Three-Day Engagement At Paramount

New Picture Romance Of Race Track

Loretta Young And Richard Greene Head Fine Cast Of Technicolor Hit

IN the belief that millions of Americans are loyal and enthusiastic followers of the sport of kings—without actually knowing much about the sport, or the kings either, for that matter—Hollywood has now turned out a picture which is said to be the last word on the subject.

It is 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor production, "Kentucky," opening today at the Paramount theater, with a cast headed by Loretta Young and Richard Greene, and including (among its more temperamental players) some of the finest thoroughbreds of American surfdom.

Announced as a great romantic story, centering on two of those proud families who for three generations have fostered one of the finest traditions of horse breeding and racing that the world has ever known, "Kentucky" reveals all the luxuriant beauty of the Blue Grass country in its natural state—for it was there that many of the scenes were filmed, according to Darryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox's astute production chief.

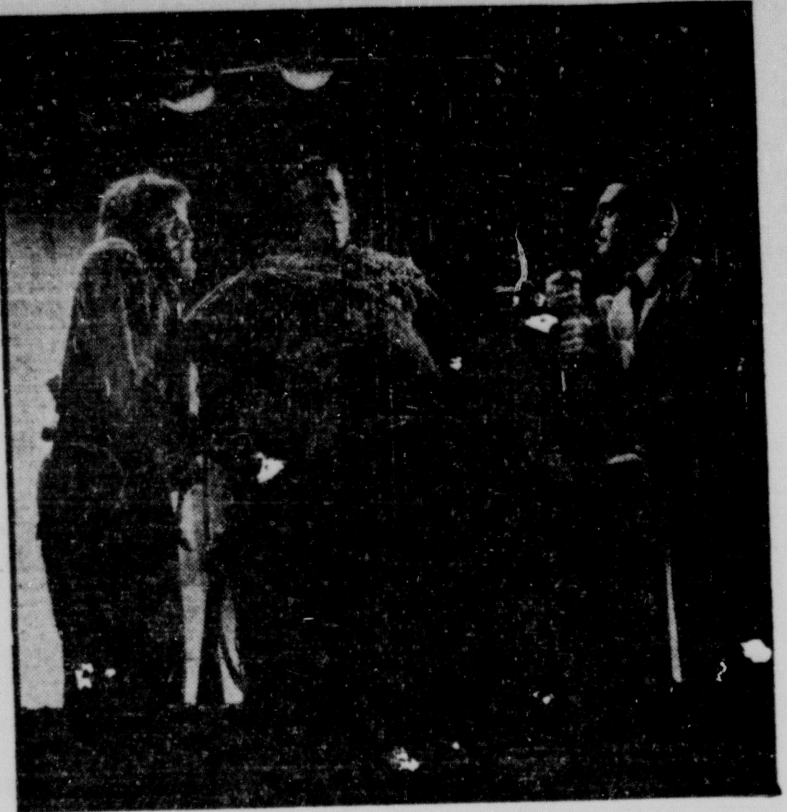

Looking at newsreels of a horse race, Zanuck was struck by the appalling contrast between black and white photography and the actual race as he had seen it. The brilliant hues of the jockey's silks, the crowds, the colorful sheen of the thoroughbreds, the indescribable beauty of the Kentucky countryside itself—all were lost, Zanuck felt, in the lack of chromatic variation.

He decided then and there that the only way to do justice to the sport of kings was to present it in the few, faded hues of Technicolor. He already had a story in mind—John Taintor Foote's novel, "The Look of Eagles." His next step was to pick David Butler to direct the film.

Butler is not only one of Hollywood's top directors, but is also well known as an experienced and enthusiastic stable owner, with eight racing horses of his own.

With Loretta Young and Richard Greene to play the romantic leads (chosen because of their excellent work together in "Four Men And A Prayer") and with Walter Brennan in the top character role, initial filming took place in Kentucky. During the five weeks the company was on location, Director Butler shot the last running of the Kentucky Derby, the first time it has ever been filmed in natural color. And the first time the derby is seen in color will be in the thrilling climax of "Kentucky."

Although "Kentucky" is the second Technicolor picture for Loretta Young—her first being "Ramona"—it was a new experience to practically every one of the other members of the troupe, including Butler. And one of

A shudder midnight show will be staged Saturday night at the Paramount theater and the "Son of Frankenstein" has been selected as the feature attraction. The stars of "Son of Frankenstein" include Basil Rathbone, Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Lionel Atwill and Josephine Hutchinson.

All that the Kentucky of glorious tradition means, imperious beauties and chivalrous men, magnificent thoroughbreds, long-fought racing rivalry and the famed derby itself, has been captured in the 20th Century-Fox's technicolor production, "Kentucky," featuring Loretta Young, Richard Greene and Walter Brennan, and it opens today at the Paramount theater.

"Vacation From Love" with Dennis O'Keefe, Florence Rice, Reginald Owen and June Knight will be shown for the first time Wednesday at the Capitol theater.

Anita Louise and Dick Powell put their heads together in the interests of romance and swing in "Going Places," new comedy with music coming to the Paramount theater Friday and Saturday.

Playing at the Capitol theater next Thursday is "Reformatory," starring Jack Holt with Bobby Jordan, Frankie Darro and Grant Mitchell.

the most ticklish problems Butler had to solve was the matter of growing grass. When Butler returned from Kentucky he found that all California grass was burnt brown. In order to match scenes, he had to send to Kentucky for seed of the "blue grass" he had filmed—and make it grow in Hollywood! Upon completion of the picture, moreover, it was found that not even an expert could tell which grass was native Kentucky and which was the transplanted variety, so perfectly did the Hollywood sets match those taken in the Blue Grass state.

Among the others in the cast of "Kentucky" are Douglas Dumbrille, Karen Morley and Meron Olsen, Lamar Trotti collaborated with John Taintor Foote in adapting the latter's novel to a screen play. Gene Markey was associate producer.

'Boys Town' Opens Today At Capitol

Tracy And Rooney Give Great Performances In Outstanding Picture

AIMED straight at the heart of America, "Boys Town," starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, plays today at the Capitol theater. Based on the story of Father Edward J. Flanagan's Boys Town, located twelve miles outside of Omaha, Neb., the role of the priest whose mission in life is to give home and shelter to needy boys affords Spencer Tracy an opportunity for one of the sincere, natural portrayals for which he has become deservedly famous. Seldom has Tracy found a role more suited to his personality than that of his quiet idealist, Father Flanagan.

whose contention that "there is no such thing as a bad boy," leads him to build a monument of faith to boyhood and to prove his idealistic contention, as well as his fight to make good citizens of the boys who come within his jurisdiction, provide smash entertainment.

Sharing honors with Tracy as Whitey, tough, unmanageable and non-conforming, is Mickey Rooney, cast in one of the most dramatic roles of his career. Gone in this picture is the flip, wise-cracking Andy Hardy. In his place is a young actor whose ability to tug at the heartstrings marks him as one of the really great young performers of the screen.

Adding further interest to the cast in the role of "angel" to Father Flanagan's dream, is Henry Hull, one of the foremost stage actors of the day, who recently turned his talents toward the screen. Then there is a long to be remembered youngster, seven-year-old Bob Watson, who, as the diminutive Pee Wee, will wrap up your heart and carry it away in the pocket of his attired corduroys. Also scoring in outstanding supporting roles are Leslie Fenton and Gene Reynolds.

As it stands, "Boys Town" is not only a monument to the little community and the men at its head, but is a tribute to Hollywood in recognizing such outstanding story material in so worthwhile a setting.

Accident figures indicate that flying is much safer in the United States than in Europe. Although American air lines flew a greater number of passenger miles than all foreign lines combined, twice as many passengers were killed on foreign lines.

Musical Star Is Featured With Birch, The Magician

When Birch, the Famous Magician, appears at the Neville auditorium on February 7, he will present not only startling feats of spectacular magic, but also brings a sparkling program that is varied with several distinct features.

Heading the Birch staff of assisting artists is Mabel Sperry, brilliant young lady was featured as xylophone soloist with the 100-piece marimba band at the Century of Progress, Chicago. She is well known in the concert and radio world as an artist of unusual ability, and critics hail her as the world's greatest girl xylophonist.

Her specially built marimba-xylophone, which was planned by an expert designer, is without question the most beautiful instrument of its kind ever produced. It is not only a triumph of tone and tuning, but an artistic achievement as well.

This talented musician and her "Marvelous Melodies" at the Birch magical performance will demonstrate her skill at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

LOCAL MASONS TO GO TO GRAND LODGE SESSIONS

Members of Masonic lodges in Monroe and West Monroe will attend the state grand lodge sessions in New Orleans on February 6-8.

The three lodges of the Twin Cities are Western Star No. 24, Graham Surghor No. 33, and West Monroe lodge No. 419.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor
We are especially anxious to see every one attend Sunday school and church somewhere and as an inducement to get all the family out we are offering a nice prize to the largest family present Sunday morning. Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a.m. D. O. McDaniel, superintendent. The preaching hours are 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The pastor will bring a message at both hours. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:15 p.m. Services are held each Tuesday and Thursday nights. You are always welcome to attend any or all of these services.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale Cobb, Choir Director
Sunday school beginning promptly 9 a.m. It is our goal to have all absentees back again today. We invite all friends of this district to come with us. The B. T. U. meeting 6:30 p.m., a place for all ages in the training service; all the membership need the training. We urge you to meet with us at this time.

The pastor's subjects for the day are "Baptism with the Holy Ghost," morning and for the evening service: "Lord I Believe." We are happy to have had such a fine attendance through the month of January. A fine record in all phases of the work of the church is noticeable. We begin now the shortest month of the year, let us get a good start at the beginning so as not to lose any ground gained hitherto. We cordially invite all friends to worship with us in all services.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

St. John and Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate
The pastor will speak at the morning hour on "Personal and Spiritual Preparedness"; at the evening hour on "Hallelujah," or "Think This One Over." The ordinance of Baptism will be administered at the close of the evening service.

In spite of the rain last Sunday morning, we had 562 in Sunday school. What would have been the attendance if the weather had not interfered? We are still shooting at the 1,000 attendance goal. The Brotherhood meets at 6:15 on the third floor of the new building. They invite all the men of the church to meet them there and study and discuss "The Lord's Supper." The Baptist Training union meets at the same hour with Mrs. Forrest Seaman in charge, and all members are urged to attend this important phase of our work. Those under nine years of age will meet Mrs. Robinson in "The Story Hour." There is a place for every member of the family in the evening program as well as the morning. Come; we need you and you need us.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST

Auburn Ave. and North Second St.
"Spirit" is the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. Whither shall I go from thy presence? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" (Psalm 139).

The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual." (Page 331.)

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe
Sunday school at usual hour. Morning service at 10:50 a.m. Rev. Finley W. Tinnin of Shreveport, editor of the Baptist Message, will preach at both the morning and evening hours. Young People's meetings as usual. Choir practice and prayer meeting held as usual.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

St. John and Oak Streets
R. T. Watson, Minister
Mrs. F. J. Newman, Choir Director
Church school at 9:45 a.m. Those having birthdays in January will be specially honored. Worship service at 10:50 a.m. Communion service. Special music, "Should Christians Unite?" sermon topic, Intermediate C. E., 6:30 p.m. Young People's C. E., 6:30 p.m. Evening service, 7:30 p.m. Special music, "Ten Thousand and One Year to Live," sermon topic, Mid-week meeting, Wednesday, 7:30 p.m., at home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williamson. Choir practice Thursday, 7:45 p.m. and church, Intermediate C. E. social Friday, 7:30 p.m., at the church.

GRACE CHURCH

Fourth and Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector
Services for Septuagesima Sunday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. for the purpose of receiving Holy Communion. The church school will assemble at 9:30 a.m., and the 10:45 service will consist of a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon by the rector. The rector will journey to St. David's, Rayville, in the afternoon and hold service at 4 p.m. Even-song will be said and sermon preached. The church now enters upon the shadows of Lent, and the services are of a more solemn character. The rector has returned from dear old Christmas, and the group of holidays that go hand in hand with Christmas, and setting our faces toward Easter, we begin to number the days of preparation, which if duly observed will fit us to keep the Paschal. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

C. Karlos Smith, Pastor-Evangelist
West Monroe
If our civilization owes its very life and progress to the church and the activity of the church, surely we owe the church a debt of attendance upon the services held there. We invite you to attend our church where you will always find a welcome awaiting you. The services are for the entire public and the messages are designed to help all mankind to find the best possible place for service to God and the community. As individuals we are charged with the necessity of personal righteousness and as a group we are charged with spiritual life of the community in which we live. The spiritual condition of a city or community rises with the spirituality of the people who make up the community. Come to church and Sunday school and thus show to the world your loyalty to the institution and to Christ Jesus our Saviour. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., with Mr. R. M. McClendon as superintendent. Special music at every service under the direction of Mr. G. C. Williams, assisted by Miss Madia McClendon. Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. "The church with a welcome."

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH

The Church With The Lighted Spire
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister
In the freedom of the truth and in the spirit of Jesus the church we unite for the worship of God and the service of man. You are cordially invited to join us in all services. Morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening services at 7:30.
"The True Measure of Life" will be the theme of the communion meditation at the morning hour when the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.
The young people of the church are today inaugurating a new plan for their Sunday evening services. They will meet at the church annex at 6 o'clock for a social and recreational period. From 6:30 to 7:30 there will be a program of worship and instruction followed by an open forum conducted by Miss Ivo Wilson on subjects of vital interest to the youth of the church. All our young people are cordially invited and expected to participate in these services.

The first quarterly conference will be held tomorrow evening, February 6, at 7 o'clock in the church annex with our new presiding elder, Rev. W. L. Doss, presiding. Supper will be served by the Woman's Missionary society to the officials and their wives. A full attendance is expected and splendid reports from all departments of the church.
The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday at 3 p.m. for the business meeting. On Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the church office there will be a meeting of the local board of Christian education.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

J. M. Alford, Pastor
Let all assemble at the church today and "remember" Christ in the communion service. This is observed on the first Sunday in each month. It is a blessed privilege to honor our Lord in this holy institution which he set up in his church and which is to be perpetuated until He comes again.
This is an excellent time, and a glorious opportunity, to "turn over a new leaf" and strive to live for better things in the future. "The Ancient Passover and What It Typified" will be the pastor's theme Sunday at 11 a.m. Songs suitable for the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be used at this service. The church school exercises will begin at 9:45 a.m. and close at 10:50 when all will be invited to remain for the worship service.
The senior league will meet in the auditorium of the church for their work at the usual time Sunday morning. The intermediate league will meet in their new apartment which has recently been arranged for comfort and convenience. The interest in the leagues, as well as in the Sunday school, continues to grow.

At the service last Sunday evening the pastor announced that a revival meeting would begin the second Sunday in March, and that the Rev. H. B. Hyssell, pastor-evangelist of New Orleans, would be the pulpit speaker. The entire congregation pledged co-operation for success in this meeting. The pastor's subject for the evening service will be "The Heavenly Ladder." One and all are cordially invited to come and worship with us.

METHODIST PROTESTANT

Stone Avenue and South Third Street
L. L. Yeager, Pastor
Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:30. Mrs. H. F. Boyd will have charge of the program. Evening (evangelistic) service at 7:15. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.
The following has been suggested as being a good recipe for a blessing: "I hour of time, 3 or 4 good hymns sung with feeling. Half-dozen real prayers. 1 helpful Bible study. All mixed together and seasoned with good fellowship and Christian love and served in the meeting house of God's people." We meet Thursday evening at 7:15. Meet with us.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grammont At Calappa Street
Ernest D. Holloway, Pastor
Believing that the time has come for us to do some thinking about the privileges and obligation of church membership, we propose to discuss the deeds of the ideal church member. Our theme for the morning message, therefore, is "The Churchman Whom Christ Honors and Uses." It is obvious that the more nearly we approach His standard the more certain progress and the stronger our appeal both to people and the Lord.
Life is an art. How many of us are versed in the primals of splendid living? "Happiness Found" is the theme of the evening message. Will you worship with us that we may find the plan of Divine Revelation?
The Sabbath school attendance is good. With your presence and interest it will be far better. Our goal cannot be reached without your enlistment in a class. Will you attend this Sabbath?

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Thomas At Richmond Streets
G. M. and Ina Lee Akin, Pastors
You are invited to worship at the Church of the Nazarene through the coming Lord's Day. The following program is announced: The congregation will study the Bible through the facilities of the Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent, will direct this period of service. Preaching at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The young people's meetings will assemble at 6:30 p.m. Mr. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins and Miss Marie Venable will be in charge. Mid-week services are: The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m.; Mrs. G. M. Akin, president. Prayer meeting, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Jack Wright leading.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Harrison and D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor
Sunday school meets at 9:30 a.m. Bible class at 10 a.m. Church service at 10:45 a.m. Following the morning worship, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. We extend a cordial invitation to every one to come and worship with us.

SINGING CONVENTION

IS SCHEDULED TODAY

The Missouri Pacific Booster club's first Sunday of the month singing convention will be held at the clubhouse on Ouachita avenue this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.
These affairs are now in their second year and are proving more popular each time. A record-breaking attendance is expected today, state those in charge.
The Hartford male quartet, the Twin City quartet, Davis Brothers' quartet and other quartets are expected to have a prominent part on the program, and there will be numerous solos and other features.
Loud speakers will be provided to provide for those who may not be able to get into the clubhouse and who will be able to enjoy the programs when seated in their cars.
It is expected that there will be attendance from Arkansas and Texas as well as from cities of north Louisiana.

Things Worth Knowing

Paint Products Corp. Deals In Roofing Paints

What it takes to preserve roofs and stop leaks, Paint Products corporation, wholesale distributors at 105 North Grand street, has. It has it here in stock for prompt delivery to roofers and building material dealers. It can supply orders for any amount.
It has black asphalt roof and iron paint, asphalt roof coating, and primer, liquid asbestos roof coating, asbestos roofing cement and roof brushes for applying the paint and coating. All measure up to the usual high quality of Paint Products corporation merchandise.

The black asphalt roof and iron paint is ideal for paper or felt roofing. It stops leaks and preserves the roof and will not crack, run or alligate. The asphalt roof coating and primer is excellent for revitalizing weathered paper and felt roofing. It is also used extensively as a primer preparatory to refinishing a roof with liquid asbestos roof coating.

The latter is semi-liquid, containing asbestos fiber. It is suitable for coating either paper, felt, gravelled, tin, galvanized iron or corrugated roofs. Equal to many coats of paint, it fills holes where paint would run through. The roofing cement is plastic. A long fiber asbestos waterproofing material, it has a variety of uses. It is utilized in recovering and repairing old or new roofs, in repairing gutters, spouts, open joints, sills, boats and skylights, in pointing chimneys, in mending broken tile or glass and in waterproofing basement walls of brick or cement. It never gets hard or brittle, but skins over the top and remains elastic underneath. This enables it to withstand expansion and contraction.

Roofing items, however, are only a few of the things handled by Paint Products corporation. It stocks a complete line of paint and paint specialties, wallpaper and painters' supplies. Its telephone number is 561.

A study of 100 Kentucky poultry flocks disclosed an average net income of $2.14 per hen during 1937-38.

WHAT'S IN IT?

There's no telling what's in the powerful International six-wheelers you see on the highways. This one may be rushing a load of cement to a construction job. That one may be hauling prunes to Peoria. These sturdy Internationals, one of which is shown above, fulfill the most exacting transportation demands. They're not only fast, but dependable. They're built to withstand the punishment of steady use. There's an International for every requirement. A complete line is displayed here by International Harvester company, 720 DeSiard street.

We-Too Barbecue Always Kept Hot

You don't get warmed over barbecue at We-Too Sandwich shop, 1602 DeSiard street. The barbecued meats sold and served by the establishment are kept hot at all times. Moreover, they're tender Kansas City meats.

And does We-Too barbecue make good sandwiches? There's nothing so good as a We-Too barbecue sandwich for a light lunch. They're—whether of sliced beef, veal or pork—only 15 cents. And you get a helping of potato salad on the side.

The price of We-Too barbecue by the pound is just as moderate—beef ribs, 25 cents; pork ribs, 45 cents; sliced beef or veal, 50 cents; sliced pork ham, 65 cents.

Plate orders of barbecue, except pork ham, are 25 cents. The pork ham plates are 35 cents. But with these orders, you get more than just the delicious barbecue, which for the price, however, is quite enough; you get a portion of potato salad, pickles and sliced tomatoes.

While specializing in barbecue, which is cooked by the old-fashioned pit method, We-Too serves sandwiches of every kind, beer, coffee and cold drinks. Then, too, it handles candies, cigars and cigarettes.

A delicious dish that We-Too Sandwich Shop originated within the past year for its patrons is barbecued beans, priced at 15 cents a pot or 30 cents a pound. Just exactly what's in 'em is a We-Too secret, but they are plenty good.

We-Too Sandwich Shop features prompt curb service. And there is plenty of parking space in the driveway around the building it occupies.

Big Day Planned For Farmers Here

A big day for farmers of this area has been arranged for tomorrow by Monroe Farm Equipment company, 2006 DeSiard street. The occasion has been designated John Deere day and the festivities will start at 10 a.m.

Every farmer in the Monroe area is invited to attend. Moreover, he is urged to bring his family and his neighbors.

The program will feature five talking pictures, a comedy enacted by an all-Hollywood cast and four films on farm machinery and equipment and modern methods of farming. The entertainment will continue well into the afternoon, with luncheon served at noon.

Everything is on Monroe Farm Equipment company, absolutely free. A complete line of modern farm machinery and equipment and General Motors trucks will be displayed by the firm for the benefit of its guests.

Remember, if you're a farmer, you're invited to celebrate John Deere day with Monroe Farm Equipment company. The management will be disappointed if you're not there.

The expansion of industry in the south during 1937 was estimated to involve $165,000,000.

That's the advice agricultural experts are giving farmers. And that's what the new Western Bear Cat feed grinder and roughage mill is enabling the farmers to do.

Ground feeds mean healthier livestock and more valuable livestock. Ground feeds mean more dollars in return for the amount fed.

Bear Cat feed grinders, which are not only sold but serviced by Frick Company, Inc., 133 North Grand street, are available in a size for every need and at a price for every purse.

A practical and profitable feed grinder must grind all kinds of grain or feed and roughage under any and all conditions. The Bear Cat fulfills that requirement. It was designed with this in mind: Livestock must eat in all kinds of weather, whether the feed happens to be damp, frozen, tough or dry.

The Bear Cat will grind ear corn, snapped corn and all grain as fine as you want it. It'll grind soy beans, hersey, millet, cane seed, cotton seed, linseed or the cake. It'll cut and grind any kind of hay or roughage, loose, bunched or baled—corn fodder, cane, kaffir, alfalfa, clover, pea hay, etc.

Besides doing all these things, and doing them better and faster than any other type of feed grinder, the Bear Cat is sturdy in construction and simple in design. Moreover, it is fool-proof. It refuses passage to iron and other foreign objects that would injure the working parts. And most important of all, it requires less labor to operate.

Detailed information on the Bear Cat may be had from Frick Company, 133 North Grand street, which handles a full line of farm machinery and equipment. In addition to the Bear Cat, the line includes the Frick oats and threshers, plows, harrows, harvesters, spreaders, grain drills and cultivators.

Frick Company also handles a complete line of unbreakable sawmill machinery and services and provides parts and supplies for all machinery and equipment sold. The telephone number of the establishment is 4058.

Lane Wilson Does Spray Painting

Thousands upon thousands of buildings are slowly falling into ruin in northeast Louisiana because their owners are under the impression that the cost of painting them is prohibitive.

Such, however, is not the case. For less than it costs to leave them exposed, unprotected, to the elements, they can be sprayed with paint—paint that will guard them against sunshine and rain.

You'll be amazed at the slight figures A. B. Buck, manager of the paint department of Lane Wilson Seed company, will quote you on spraying operations that will save you many a dollar in later replacements. He maintains headquarters at the wholesale seed and feed department of the company here at North Sixth and Olive streets. He can be reached by calling telephone number 4790.

buildings that are going to rack and ruin consist principally of barns, sheds and cabins on farms and plantations; mill quarters; negro quarters; temporary industrial plants; and the like.

Spray painting of buildings is a definitely new development and fills a need that has long been felt. It enables the preservation of structures that would have to be allowed to deteriorate because of the cost of brush application of paint. It is a type of painting that lends itself to buildings constructed of rough materials. The air used in applying the paint drives the paint into the grain of the wood.

Spray painting isn't competitive with brush painting. It is, rather, supplemental thereto. It isn't designed for fine work, but is directed toward preservation of buildings. It makes possible the painting of structures that otherwise would have to be left unprotected against the elements.

Angling is said to be the most popular sport in America. It is thought that 12,000,000 persons in the country engage in the pastime, although only 6,000,000 obtain fishing licenses each year.

WHITE SOX START SPRING TRAINING MARCH 15

Sports Chatter
By GEORGE V. LOFTON

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Owners of the Monroe White Sox, who capped the 1938 Cotton States league championship in as spectacular a finish as this league has ever seen, are optimistic over the setup for 1939, and an analysis of the nucleus bears out their prediction for a first division club this season.

Pending a change in the rule at the Monroe league meeting this month, the player limit of 15 men is still in effect, but the classification of the players has been changed. Whereas last year nine "class men" could be carried, this season each club will be allowed to carry but seven "veterans," with the remainder of the squad graduated down to two players who never before have played professional baseball.

Fortunately, Monroe is well fortified with "class men." In fact, there's one too many on the local roster. Eight players of three years or more of experience in organized baseball are carried on the White Sox list, but it is likely that one—namely, Ted Nugent, veteran hurler—will be traded or sold.

Here's the setup, as far as "class men" are concerned, and it's pretty formidable array: Hank Taylor, catcher; Frank Hackney, second baseman; Johnny Conway, shortstop; Manager Doug Taitt, outfielder; and John Yelovic, "Red" Andrews and Frank Narbut, pitchers.

Perhaps one or more of the youngsters rounded up will beat out one or more of the vets, but that remains to be seen. But at any rate, Manager Taitt has an excellent cast with which to work. Guy Pruitt has been in organized ball only two years and thus is not rated a "class man." Apparently he's a fixture at third base, and rightfully so.

It will be interesting to watch the developments at Casino park once the local Sox start spring training. Two boys who have never had previous professional experience must be picked. Perhaps it will be this big Jones boy who seems to be a real prospect. He's a first baseman. Maybe it will be one of these kids from Nashville that Taitt dug up during the winter. Perhaps Ed Stroud, the local boy who aspires to a spot on the pitching staff, will make the grade.

Incidentally, the local club plans no trading alliance this year. The Sox will accept help, and gratefully, but not at the expense of the club. Monroe may get a player or two from Nashville; maybe Walter Morris over at Shreveport will help out with one or two hands; perhaps the Dallas club can send somebody who will aid the local cause. But no club of higher classification is going to raise the Monroe roster because it sent players here who could or could not—it's usually the latter—make the grade in the Cotton States circuit. In that connection, Manager Taitt and E. E. Meredith, secretary of the club, are in Dallas today for a conference with Owner George Schepps of the Steers. Something of interest may develop from that confab.

HIGH SCHOOL BOXING

High school boxing has been definitely established as a paying sport here, and rightfully so. The boys give you plenty for your money with the old or die spirit for dear old Whoois.

There's one new rule that has won the approval of everyone who watches the youngsters fight it out. It's the regulation, enforced for the first time this season, that requires the referee to count nine over each boxer who has been knocked down. Heretofore, an over-zealous lad might be clouted to the canvas with a hefty right or left, and bob up again without taking a count. Maybe he retained his sense of equilibrium, or maybe he didn't. Nevertheless, he'd come up because he thought it "courageous" to refuse a short rest.

Under the new rule, he has to take the rest. The referee must count nine over every boxer who suffers a knockdown, and it's a good rule. It may save some lad from suffering a permanent injury.

On the other hand, we think Monroe judges should call draws in local bouts. It's done every place else in the state. Several years ago local judges were advised that they must cast a decision for one boxer or the other, and that draws were not permissible. There was an old A. A. U. rule to that effect, and apparently those in charge of the sport here concurred in the opinion that somebody had to win.

The no-draw rule—in effect in Monroe only—has worked a hardship on the judges. It also has put Monroe in a bad light. When the decision always goes to the local boy, the visiting contingent always claims. That should be corrected because every true sportsman wants a visiting competitor to believe he'll get a square deal when he competes here. We know the judges who have officiated at local bouts are sincere in their efforts to be fair and the local boxing powers-that-be will rescind that no-draw rule, it will remove them from the well-known spot. Let's applaud that nine-count rule and do a bit of crusading for draw decisions in local rings.

DE-EMPHASIS

Elsewhere in the sports section today you'll find a story detailing the "de-emphasis" of football at Arkansas A. and M. college at Monticello. The story is interesting here because the Aggies have been included on Northeast Center's grid schedule for the past several years and also because of the results obtained.

It seems those in charge of athletics at Monticello refused to be stampeded into high-pressure football by enthusiastic alumni and football customers who demanded winning eleven at all costs. And, as the fairy stories have

High School Relay Carnival To Be Held Here March 17

FENSKE PUSHES CUNNINGHAM IN MILLROSE MILE

Matchless Kansan Fights Off Challenge To Win By Margin Of Two Yards

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Beating back a bold challenge by Charles "Chuck" Fenske in the last lap, Glenn Cunningham tonight galloped to another of his matchless running triumphs as he scored his sixth victory in seven Wanamaker Mile starts. (His time for the feature event of the 32nd annual Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden was 4 minutes 13 seconds.)

Before a packed house of 16,000, the 28-year-old veteran from Peabody, Kans., varied the style of his running somewhat, but didn't change the type of finish of his recent races one iota.

Cunningham, unbeaten in the Garden since 1936, was not content to let others set the pace. He took command of the field with six of the eleven laps still to go and held it for three circuits, until Fenske, Big Ten champion from Wisconsin, surged from third place into the lead. Cunningham hung on his heels for one more lap and then, as usual, cut loose and passed him as he wheeled in to the final 160 yards.

But Fenske was not to be shaken off so easily. The Wisconsin husky came back as they pounded down the back stretch. Cunningham hit it up with everything in his big frame, and still Fenske didn't falter. He stuck to Glenn's shoulder right around the final turn, and only as Cunningham made a supreme effort down the home stretch was he able to open up a two-yard lead that was his margin of victory.

Wayne Rideout of North Texas State Teachers staged a handsome sprint of his own to come in third, followed by Archie San Romani, Blaine Rideout, John Munksi of Missouri, the pace setter for the early part of the race, and Josef Mostert of Belgium.

Fenske loomed up as a promising challenger to Cunningham's mile domination, the two-mile run furnished an even stronger rival for Don Lash as the country's top distance runner. He is Gregory Rice, chunky National A. A. U. outdoor 5,000-meter champion from Notre Dame, who turned in the last 22 laps to win the two-mile in 9:07.6, with Lash ten yards back in his first defeat of the season. It was the Notre Dame star's first local showing.

Ralph Schwarzkopf of Michigan unleashed his kick too soon, and was overhauled by Rice and barely nipped at the tape by Lash to place third. In fourth place was Tommy Deckard, fourth place most of the pace setting with Lash, his former Indiana teammate. Fifth went to Veteran Joe McCluskey, who ran the last three laps with one shoe off.

Charley Beetham, former national half-mile champion, slipped and fell rounding the final turn and first place in the 880-yard race went to Francis Slater of Fordham.

It was sheer tragedy for the one-time Ohio State star, for he had taken over the lead from Slater pounding down the back stretch and was running well when the accident occurred. As it was, Slater went on to triumph in 1 minute 54.7 seconds, with long John Woodruff of Pittsburgh, Olympic 800-meter titleholder, second, and Sanford Goldberg, New York's flying fireman, third.

The night's first record was produced in one of the heats of the 60-yard high hurdles, as Roy Staley of Southern California, a 1936 Olympic team member, skinned over the barriers in 7.3 seconds, one tenth faster than the former mark set in this meet last year by Allan Tolmich and Forrest (Spec) Towns.

Ben Johnson, who won over 20 straight sprints last winter while running for Columbia university, was shut out in his first post-graduate appearance as he ran last in a three-man semi-final at 60 yards won by Norwood Ewell, Penn State freshman.

Wesley Wallace of Fordham, noted chiefly as a flat track runner, got away with a daring piece of strategy to capture the classic Millrose 600 in 1:22.3, second-fastest time in meet history. Last in a four-man field going into the bell lap, Wallace sneaked past Harold Cagle of Oklahoma Baptist on the inside, passed Jim Herbert of N. Y. U. on the back stretch, and then came roaring down the final straightaway in a bitter race with William Fritz of Canada to break the tape the winner by a matter of inches. Herbert was third and Cagle fourth.

Wallace's brilliant performance has been improved on only once since the event was inaugurated in 1915. That was in 1935, when Chuck Hornbostel of Indiana was clocked in 1:11.3. The victory gave Wallace his first leg on the second Millrose 600 trophy, Herbert having retired the first by his triumphs the last two years.

Herbert Thompson, dusky flyer competing unattached, equaled the accepted world record of 6.1 seconds in winning the final of the 60-yard dash. The New York negro won handily over Norbert Ewell, Penn State freshman, with Ken Clapp of Brown third and Eunice Peacock of the Shore A. C. Elberton, N. J., fourth and last.

CAGE MEET WON BY JENA QUINTET

Giants Trounce Ogden, 33 To 11, In Finals Of Winnsboro Tourney

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 4.—(Special)—The Jena High school Giants won the Winnsboro High school basketball tournament for boys here tonight by defeating the Ogden High school quintet in the finals, 33 to 11.

Jena, displaying power similar to that once made them the state's strongest aggregation and once a top ranking five of the nation, went to the finals with a bye in the first round, a forfeit from Clarks through the second and then went on by trouncing Oak Grove and Epps.

Ogden advanced with a bye through the first round and then beat Kelly, Fort Necessity and Rayville in order.

Ford, of Jena, points. The tourney final with 13 points. The tourney had been in progress since Friday night and a large crowd was on hand for all games.

Sportsmanship awards for first, second and third ranking performers who were outstanding for good, clean playing were made as follows: Roy Russell, Jena, first; Huey Dempsey, Ogden, second; and Lloyd Thompson, Jena, third.

Tournament officials also selected an all-tournament squad of ten outstanding players who were: Russell, Jena, forward; Phillips, Rayville, forward; Ford, Jena, center; Thompson, Jena, guard; Dempsey, Ogden, guard; Russell, Rayville, forward; Sills, Crowline, forward; Eppinette, Winnsboro, center; Pace, Epps, guard; and McMurray, Ogden, guard.

PARKER CONFERS WITH MAROONS

Centenary Coach Talks With Alumni, Later Goes To Starkville

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Upon invitation of local alumni of Mississippi State college, Coach Curtis Parker of Centenary college, Shreveport, La., today informally conferred with the group here. Tonight he went to Starkville for a conference with Athletic Director C. R. Noble over the coaching post vacated at Mississippi State this week by resignation of Emerson "Spike" Nelson.

Parker told newspapermen he was under a pleasant contract at Centenary but was glad to accept the invitation to look into the Mississippi State situation.

Duvier Noble declared nothing definite has been done about the coaching place and that he had no announcement regarding the situation at this time.

Coach Nelson said today he would leave Starkville soon, certainly before the end of the month, but that he had nothing definite in mind other than that he was investigating pursuits other than football coaching.

BARNES TO HEAD DRIVE TO ENLARGE SUGAR BOWL

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A. B. Nicholas, chairman of the stadium committee of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports association, which sponsors the annual Sugar Bowl football game, said tonight Jay C. Barnes, public utility executive, would head a campaign to raise $550,000 to increase the capacity of Tulane stadium to 70,000.

OUACHITA PARISH HIGH SPONSOR OF BIG TRACK EVENT

110 Invitations Issued Louisiana, Mississippi And Arkansas Schools

The first annual Ouachita Parish High School track and field teams of this area, will be held in Monroe on March 17, according to an announcement by Coach Woodrow Turner, of Ouachita.

Coach Turner has been pointing toward such an event here for the past two years, and, having been assured whatever assistance needed from school officials and local merchants, has announced that the meet has been scheduled.

One hundred and ten invitations to high schools throughout Louisiana and Mississippi were mailed last week. Schools sending teams to the meet will be able to do so without the entry fee usually charged for athletic tournaments, but all entries must be on file with Coach Turner not later than March 11.

The events will take place at Northeast Center of L. S. U. and Coach Turner has assured by A. S. Huffman, his physical educational director for men at Northeast Center, that college athletes will assist him in making the carnival a success.

Louisiana State Normal college, of which Coach Turner is an alumnus, will send its sprint medley relay team here for an exhibition during the course of the events, it was also stated.

Coach Turner, in his invitations to track and field teams, said: "Due to the lack of competitive meets in northeast Louisiana before the district track meets, we are having the Ouachita Parish High School Relay carnival as an opportunity for you to see how your men function in competition."

The invitations were accompanied by complete outlines of plans for the relays, including a map of the Northeast Center stadium's field and track showing where all events would begin, the various events and the starting times, and instructions for coaches pertaining to rules and regulations of the carnival.

So far advanced are plans for the track and field show that it now remains entirely up to the coaches of teams in this area to make the meet a success.

The list of events to be held has been given as follows: Track: 70-yard high hurdles, two-mile relay, 100-yard dash, medley relay, exhibition medley relay for Louisiana Normal, 440-yard relay, shuttle basketball relay, 880-yard relay, football relay, 120 yard low hurdles; and mile relay.

Field: Pole vault, shot put, discus throw, high jump, javelin throw and broad jump.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the first three place winners of the special events, other than relays, and ribbons will be given to fourth place winners. Trophies and plaques will be awarded the winning relay teams.

Each school will be entitled to two entrants in each event, but an individual contestant will be allowed in only three events which may be three relays or three specials, or two relays and one special, or two specials and one relay.

PARROTS, OILERS IN TITLE SERIES

Teams Begin Playoff For Cage Championship At Brown Gym Tuesday

The Pan-Am Oilers of Choudrant and the Green Parrots of Brown, championship contenders of the Ouachita Valley basketball league, will clash Tuesday night in the Brown gymnasium in the first game of a series to decide the league titleholder.

The series, beginning Tuesday, will be for the first half championship of the league, both Brown and Choudrant having finished the first round of games in a tie for first place, Carroll Royce, league president said.

However, the league championship may be decided in the first series should Choudrant win. Choudrant won the last half game last Thursday by beating the Green Parrots in the deciding game, 34 to 35, and by copying the first half title would then have no further contenders. However, if the Parrots win the first three games, they will be entitled to a second series with the Oilers.

The second game of the initial series will be played at Choudrant next Friday night. A third game, if necessary, will be played on a neutral court.

FLYING LEE CAPTURES SANTA MARGARITA RACE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Hal Price Headley's Flying Lee won the $10,000 Santa Margarita handicap at Santa Anita park.

With 35,000 turf fans gathered under clear skies for the day's biggest race, Headley's 4-year-old filly and 17-to-1 shot overtook Norman Church's Sweet Nancy in the closing strides of the mile and one-sixteenth event and held on long enough to capture the verdict in a photo finish. The time was one minute, 47.1 seconds.

Patty's Dad Doesn't Like Golf; Baseball His Sport

LOUISIANA TECH SPRING FOOTBALL TRAINING BEGINS

Ray Davis, New Coach, In Charge; 51 Candidates For Team Participating

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—I was wandering along out at the Miami Biltmore course, watching Patty Berg mow another opponent down, when I ran into Patty's father, Herman, who also was observing his daughter's play in an abstracted way.

He is a little fellow, but his grip nearly took my fingers out by the roots. He shakes hands like his young daughter plays golf—for keeps. He is in the grain business up in Minneapolis and he vastly prefers big league baseball to golf, even if his daughter is the national champion in the latter sport.

Patty had played three holes when I caught up, but Herman didn't know how she stood with her rival. He said he thought maybe she was all even. As we trudged along behind the gallery following Patty, he didn't pay much attention to how she was hitting the ball. He recalled that I had been covering golf in England three summers ago when Patty, then 18, went over to play on the United States Curtis Cup team.

"I came mighty near making Patty stop playing golf for good that summer," he revealed. "I didn't mind her putting heat, but some of the dispatches said she was so jittery she had to be 'carried' around by her partner. I thought if she was that serious about the game she ought to quit it right now."

"I told her so when she got back, but Patty finally convinced me there was nothing to it, so I let her go on playing. Since then he hasn't shown any sign of being too serious."

That's how close this country came to losing its favorite girl golfer. There's nothing glamorous about Patty-of-the-rolling-dolls about Herman. She's just a father to her father. Herman, she's just a father to her father. Herman, she's just a father to her father.

Coach Davis, who recently came to Tech from Howard college to assume the football leadership at Tech, is an exponent of the Notre Dame system. Asked about his views on the "two-team" plan that has been used at Tech in recent years—that is, a method of using one team to "wear down" the opponent and then sending in another complete combination "to score"—Coach Davis remarked:

"Well, I have used both systems. If I have two good teams, I may use the two-team plan. Otherwise, I will resort to individual substitutions."

Though instruction in fundamentals and dummy practice have been in order this week, scrimmage is slated for the coming week, it was announced.

The 51 candidates for the Tech team are as follows: Varsity men: Gordon Adams, end; Howard Barker, back; Dick Basco, back; Victor Blodgett, end; Paul Bonin, guard; Sam Gooch, end; W. H. Hinkle, back; C. B. Howard, tackle; Jack Jagers, guard; Pat Meeks, guard; Ora Merriott, back; Robert Phillips, tackle; Luther Smith, guard; L. C. Sparks, tackle; William Vise, back; Forrest White, back; G. L. Rooney, center, and T. R. Willett, center.

Freshmen: Peter Ashton, back; Harmon Burgess, center; Edward Bryant, end; Clifton Britt, guard; Randall Chadwick, tackle; Francis Copes, tackle; Harold Dickens, guard; Henry DeBrock, back; Bill Ferguson, end; Garland Gregory, guard; Thomas Goodgame, guard; Jesse Hardcastle, tackle; Travis Hammons, center; Joe Hague, back; James E. Hendricks, center; O. H. Haynes, back; C. Lusk, end; John H. Laughlin, end; Percy Lamar, tackle; Ernest Miller, guard; Fred Michael, back; Otha Ray Mack, back; Kenneth Marsh, end; Bill Nash, tackle; Richard Lee, center; John Perritt, back; J. E. Rayburn, back; Durey Rainer, end; Richard Reardon, back; James C. Tinsley, back; Edward Wendling, back; Tom Oliphant, back, and Witt Vascou, tackle.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Georgia rolled up an early lead and coasted to a 43-21 victory over Auburn's basketball team tonight.

Roy Chatham, a guard who totaled 13 points, and Dan Kirkland, center, who tossed in 11, led the Bulldogs to their fourth Southeastern conference victory in five starts.

Georgia, using 12 players, led by 23-13 at the half. Auburn, also substituting frequently, was led by Gibson, Morgan and Holmes.

POLLY HASTINGS TAKES PONTCHARTRAIN HANDICAP

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Polly Hastings and Waxwing, both from the R. A. Coward stable, ran one-two in the Pontchartrain Handicap today at the Fair Grounds. The entry, favorite in the mile and 70 yards feature race, paid $6 in the $2 mutuels to win.

The winner, carrying 98 pounds with H. Krovitiz up, followed Waxwing into the stretch and wore down her stablemate to finish first by half a length. E. N. Bisso's Whipwillow was a length and a half behind Waxwing.

Brodeur, sensation of the 1938 Canadian racing season, owned by the estate of the late Joseph Cattarinich, took a five and a half furlong allowance race for three-year-olds and paid $6.60 for $2. The gelding was making his first start here. Roidef was second and Cackle Time third.

SOUTHWESTERN TRIUMPHS LAFAYETTE

LAFAYETTE, La., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Southwestern Louisiana institute Bulldogs stayed out in front all the way tonight to take a 26 to 17 basketball victory over Louisiana college.

NEVILLE BOXERS HAVE 2 MATCHES FOR THIS WEEK

Give LaGrange Return Engagement Thursday; Meet Lafayette Friday

The boxers of Neville High school will tackle the LaGrange High school mittmen of Lake Charles and the Lafayette High school Lions on successive nights this week. It was announced last night by Coach Percy Brown.

The Bengals, who trounced the strong LaGrange team, 7 to 3, here Friday night, will give the Lake Charles aggregation a return meet in Lake Charles Thursday night.

They will then go on to Lafayette where the Tigers and the Lions tangle Friday night. In a recent meet here Neville also beat Lafayette, 8 to 3.

But Coach Brown expects his charges to have tougher going when they appear in their opponents' own backyards and will put his boys through hard workouts this week in preparation for the fights.

The next home meet will be with the Istrouma Indians of Baton Rouge, only conqueror of Neville this season, on Friday night. The season, and the Baton Rouge early in the season, can be expected to present a tough team to the Istrouma comes to Monroe on Friday, February 17.

Friday night, when the Tigers were trouncing Catholic High school's Golden Bears of Baton Rouge. The Bears held a 5 to 4 victory this year over Plaquemine, defending state champions.

MILLSAPS SWEEPS OVER BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Millsaps basketball team swept over Birmingham-Southern 67-45 here tonight in another of the Dixie conference's free-scoring contests.

The Majors flipped in 31 baskets. Herron, Millsaps forward, scored 27 points.

As yet the local club has not made a working agreement with any Class A or major league team, but club officials said they had not abandoned the idea of such an agreement with some strong "upper class" team for this year.

CATCHERS AND HURLERS BEGIN WORK THAT DAY

Infielders And Outfielders To Report For Practice March 20

Pitchers and catchers on the roster of the Monroe White Sox, defending Cotton States league champions, will report for spring training on March 15, and infielders and outfielders will get to work on March 20, according to an announcement yesterday by club officials.

Five exhibition games for the Sox, four in Monroe, have already been booked, it was announced, and at least two more are expected to be arranged.

The first spring exhibition game for the White Sox will be played here with the Nashville Volunteers, strong Southern association club, on April 1. A second game with the Volunteers will be played on the following day, April 2.

Other exhibition games booked by the White Sox are with the Philadelphia Athletics here on April 3; the Alexandria Aces on April 8; and the Alexandria Aces here on April 9. The locals are also seeking to schedule one or two exhibition games with the Greenville Burkshots, who led the Cotton States loop through the regular schedule last season but lost to the Monroe aggregation in the championship series.

One other exhibition game here, in which the White Sox will not be involved, will be between the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians on Monday, April 10.

Manager Doug "Poo" Taitt said last night that he had been promised help in the way of players from various clubs but that he was taking no chances on getting the reinforcements he will need to replace such players as Buford Rhea and Glen Murray, outfielders; Bobby Schang, catcher; Tom Perry, pitcher; and Pete Medak, first baseman.

As yet the local club has not made a working agreement with any Class A or major league team, but club officials said they had not abandoned the idea of such an agreement with some strong "upper class" team for this year.

MICHIGAN BOXING OFFICIAL FLAYS GALENTO

M'DONELL TERMS TONY'S WIN OVER BROWN REVOLTING

Jersey Fighter Must Meet Top-notch Before Battling Again In State

DETROIT, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Frank McDonnell, chairman of the Michigan athletic board of control, described as "silly" tonight the National Boxing association's recent ranking of Tony Galento as No. 1 contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, and imposed restrictions on future bouts of Galento here.

At the same time he barred from further competition in the state Nat. Brown, veteran Washington, D. C., boxer who dropped to the canvas ten times before being counted out in the fourth round of a fight with the 234-pound Orange, N. J., tavern keeper here last night.

"It was disgusting," said McDonnell. "Brown is all washed up and I don't believe that Galento can lick me."

The boxing commissioner, who says he weighs 128 pounds, explained Galento's status this way:

"Galento will have to win a fight from an outstanding fighter in some other state before I shall allow him to appear in Michigan again, and then it will be only against a top-notch opponent."

MacDonnell's suspension of Brown is effective only in Washington because the athletic board was suspended by the N. B. A. last September 12 for refusing to recognize the bans the Illinois boxing commission slipped on Jimmy Adams, Midland, Mich., heavyweight, Jack Trammell, Youngstown, O., fighter, Promoter Kack Kearns, Thomas Walsh and James Brady, all of whom were associated with the management of Adams, and James Buchanan, Trammell's manager.

The men were suspended after Adams knocked out Trammell in Chicago last June 8, the Illinois commission termed the affair "unsatisfactory."

Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker, was the promoter of last night's contest. Walsh is matchmaker and side of Kearns in his Detroit fight ventures, although MacDonnell ordered him barred from fighters' dressing rooms some time ago.

TONY IN FOG
ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Tony Galento came back to his bar today in a bit of a fog as to why anyone should find fault with his fourth-round knockout of Natie Brown in Detroit last night.

While he served drinks to the townfolk, he let his manager, Joe Jacobs, reply to the blast of Frank MacDonnell, chairman of the Michigan athletic board of control.

"Regardless of what MacDonnell says, he can't knock Galento out of his No. 1 rating," said Jacobs, "because Galento knocks out everyone who gets in the ring with him. And as for boxing in Michigan, I wouldn't let Galento fight there again as long as MacDonnell is commissioner."

"After the fight, MacDonnell said everything was O. K., and he ordered the pay-off," Jacobs said. "Now he comes up with this statement that Galento can't fight. Galento knocked out Brown in four rounds. Brown went 10 rounds with Joe Louis in the same ring. What does he want?"

HOWARD QUINTET TO PLAY CENTER ON FEBRUARY 15

Indians To Meet Strong Aggregation Here After Week Of Rest

A week of rest has been ordered for the Northeast Center of L. S. U. cage team while members of the squad catch up on their class work, but the Indians will resume activity again on February 15, when they meet the strong Howard college five of Birmingham, Ala., here, Coach James L. Malone said last night.

While the Tribe will be resting in the sense of competition, they will spend the week in hard practice sessions, however.

"We will have to be at our best if we expect to beat Howard," Coach Malone said, "and stress on more team work, better passing and more accurate shooting will figure in this week's practice."

The Tribe turned in probably its best game of the year Friday night by breaking the winning streak of 13 consecutive victories by Southeastern Louisiana. The locals had to battle two complete Southeastern teams, one as strong as the other, but they managed to win out 36 to 43.

Howard, although considered a small college, has one of the strongest basketball teams in the south and can be expected to give the Tribe just about its toughest game of the year.

Howard trounced Mississippi college's strong aggregation a few days ago after the Mississippians had defeated both Georgia and Auburn a few nights before.

After the game with Howard, the Redmen will go to Alexandria for a return game with the Louisiana college Wildcats, who nosed out the locals, 33 to 32, here recently.

BULLA, NELSON PACE FIELD AT PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Johnny Bulla, husky 24-year-old Chicago professional and Byron Nelson, veteran from Reading, Pa., carded 68's to lead a field of 78 storm-tossed golfers at the conclusion of the first 18 holes in the $3,000 Phoenix open tournament today.

Bulla, playing in a three-some with Barge Pease, Phoenix amateur, and Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, Okla., figuratively burned the sun-soaked course, which had proved the undoing of some of the nation's leading linksmen.

The crowd was on the verge of acclaiming Bulla when Nelson pulled up to the 18th tee with a 63. Informed he would have to par the five-stroke hole, Nelson nonchalantly went ahead to the Bulla. Each shot five birdies.

Par for the course is 71.

Trailing closely behind Bulla and Nelson were Ben Hogan, White Plains, N. Y., 70; E. N. Dutch Harrison, Oak Park, Ill., and John Geersten, Salt Lake City, 71; Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., and John Revolta, Chicago, 72; and Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del., Dick Metz, Chicago, John Malnute, Gerard, O., Lawson Little, San Francisco, John Perelli, Lake Tahoe, Calif., Jim Demaree, Houston, Tex., and Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, all 73.

Lieutenant Ken Rogers, United States Army, San Diego, Calif., was low amateur with a 74.

The tournament's final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

STANLEY SIGNED AS DUKE UNIVERSITY END COACH

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Dennis K. (Dutch) Stanley, former star player, later head coach and now end coach at the University of Florida, has been signed as end coach of the Duke university football team, Athletic Director Wallace Wade announced today.

Stanley succeeds Carl Voyles, Duke end coach for eight years, who resigned recently to go to William and Mary as athletic director and head football coach.

Stanley will assume his duties at Duke Monday and will work with Wade in spring grid drills.

it, everything came out for the best at the end.

Three years ago the Aggies beat the Indians 6 to 0. The following fall—in 1937—Monticello invaded Northeast Center stadium and went down under a 11-0 score. Last fall the Indians triumphed the Bollweevils by a convincing score. In fact, Monticello didn't win a game all last year.

But—in 1939 the Aggies are going to have plenty of fun. The players will more or less tour the country at the expense of teams they'll meet, and you can be sure the boys will be well repaid for their efforts on the gridiron, whether they win or lose. They'll visit eight states, including Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Texas, Louisiana, and there, and don't think that the lads will take down on that gridiron. And the guarantees are high enough to enable the school to show a profit at the end of the season.

After all, those trips are enough to convince many a husky youngster that Arkansas A. and M. at Monticello is a pretty good school from which to obtain an education. Maybe the emphasis in football isn't so bad in the final analysis. Other small schools with a smart schedule-maker, might do well to forget the Notre Dame or the Warner system and copy the Monticello style of play.

JOBLESS' RIGHT TO WORK UPHELD

Harrington Says Day Of Apologies For WPA 'Now Has Past'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Col. F. C. Harrington, Works Progress administrator, said in a broadcast address tonight that the "right of jobless men and women" to public employment was "just being established."

"I feel that the day of apologies for the WPA now has past," he said. "We can justify ourselves fully by our work, and we must do so."

Harrington did not mention the possibility of WPA becoming a permanent institution, but said:

"For its (WPA) preservation as an element of future public policy, I want to urge that it is now and henceforth up to every WPA worker to put in a good day's work for his pay—just as good a day's work as he can, whatever his rate of pay may be."

"For my own part, I will do everything I can to give this program added prestige in the minds of the American people by carrying out what I conceive to be my two primary responsibilities."

"First, to see that the people whom congress intended to get these jobs—the people who really need them—actually get them."

"And second, to see that the country gets from this program the best and most valuable work that can be done."

Referring to the prohibitions in the emergency relief bill against politics in WPA, Harrington said he was "glad" that congress adopted provisions in keeping with President Roosevelt's message of January 5, in that message the president said "improper political practices can be eliminated (from WPA) only by the imposition of rigid statutory regulations and penalties."

"I watched first-hand the remarkable fight which Harry Hopkins (former WPA administrator) made for years to keep politics out of this program," Harrington said. "I know he did everything within his power, and I am happy that congress has strengthened my own stand with this new law."

NEGRIN PLANS TO QUIT CATALONIA

ing-smashed steadily northward toward the French frontier. They were quickly cutting away the little Catalonian territory left in government control.

The government's temporary capital of Figueras was only 20 miles from the fighting lines tonight.

Negrin and his ministers had left for "somewhere in Catalonia" while minor officials crossed to France with the government's records. One report had the government leaders planning to fly to Valencia to set up a new capital.

Government army officers arriving here frankly admitted the insurgent advance had turned into a rout for their troops.

They said that only before Seo de Urgel, near the Andorran frontier, was there any "real resistance."

At Paris British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps conferred this evening with French Foreign Minister Bonnet. It was his third visit in 24 hours and apparently was connected with the Spanish government's action.

British foreign office officials, who normally are widely scattered over the week-end, were not available for any immediate comment in London.

Insurgent war planes flew at will over northern Catalonia, bombing and machine-gunning the few remaining government-controlled towns. Roads leading into France were jammed with straggling women, children and old men, hungry and seeking haven.

MONDAY FINAL DAY TO BUY LICENSES

The Motor Vehicle bureau, 212 North Second street, Saturday night closed for business after having experienced what is believed to have been the biggest day thus far.

A number of extra clerks were busy supplying the demand of last-minute buyers and lines in the office were similar to those in a Christmas rush at the postoffice.

Because the announced deadline, after which a penalty is imposed, was set for February 5, a Sunday, the office will be permitted to extend the period of grace through tomorrow, but will be closed today.

After tomorrow, owners of cars will be required to display 1939 license plates.

Fred Hanna, bureau manager, promised to have complete figures for the press at the close of business on Monday.

MANAGER

'KOPY KAT' OPENS MODERN DRESS SHOP

"The Kopy Kat," 322 DeSiard street, opened its doors to the public Saturday morning. Miss Frances Zagone, former manager of the Dixie Shop, is manager.

She is assisted by the following salespeople: Julius Frankel, Miss Myrtle Milling and Mrs. Annie Mae Waisworth.

This store carries a complete line of dresses, coats and suits at popular prices. They embody modern features to be found in a down-to-the-minute specialty shop.

The policy of the store will be to make refunds cheerfully, to make exchanges when required and to treat customers "always right," it was said.

Special bargains are offered for the opening days. Later in the month the store will have a formal opening which will be announced through the press.

ORDERS SAILING JUDGE TO RETURN

Cristobal, Canal Zone, to serve on the judge when he touches his first port of call.

Judge Thomas wirelessly the Associated Press he would return from Cristobal on the first available ship "if Mr. Noonan so advises."

"No subpoena at Cristobal is necessary," he said.

John J. Dowling, assistant United States attorney, said he had sent federal agents to Connecticut to subpoena the personal business records of Thomas, including bank account transcripts, bank books and duplicate income tax returns.

Dowling said he was interviewing executives of concern in which Man-ton had a financial interest and that a subpoena had been issued for Man-ton himself to appear before the grand jury Monday after his resignation becomes effective.

Asked whether more federal judges were being investigated under an order issued by United States Attorney General Frank Murphy a week ago, Noonan merely shrugged and said, "that's government business."

Thomas last December appointed two receivers for McKesson and Robbins, Inc., following a receivership action which was later dismissed. That action began the series of developments which led to the many-sided investigations into the drug corporation's affairs.

Execution to only three or four seconds. Rennes officials said Desfourneaux took 10 or 15 seconds—time enough for the victim to turn his head and see the blade falling.

Whether Desfourneaux would succeed permanently to the position was not known as the ministry of justice never announces officially such a succession. It had been understood that the former executioner had been queathed his position to his nephew, Andre Obrecht. The nephew—not Desfourneaux—had been expected to put Pelorge to death.

Appointment of either, however, would fulfill the tradition that France's high executioner be a member of the Deibler family. Desfourneaux was the uncle of the former "Monsieur de Paris," and had been his assistant since 1876.

'ROCKEFELLER OF EUROPE' EXPIRES

Heart Attack Fatal To Man Worth $150,000,000 To $200,000,000

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Sir Henri Deterding, who rose from poverty to become one of the richest and most powerful of the world's industrialists, died this afternoon at his villa here.

The Netherlands-born oil magnate and "Rockefeller of Europe" was 72 years old.

Sir Henri, the possessor of a personal fortune estimated at between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000, retired in 1937 from the director-generalship of the monster Royal Dutch Petroleum company.

He was the guiding genius in the development of the far-flung company which at the time of his retirement embraced a group of 200 companies with 40,000 employees.

Sir Henri was a frequent winter visitor to St. Moritz because he enjoyed ice-skating with members of his family.

He was slightly indisposed today and a doctor was called to his villa. "There is nothing much the matter with me," he laughingly remarked.

The doctor was leaving the villa grounds when Sir Henri suffered a heart attack.

His wife ran down the driveway shouting, "Doctor, doctor, come back!" Before the doctor could reach Sir Henri's bedroom the world famed oil magnate was dead.

Sir Henri, thrice married, is survived by two sons and one daughter by his first marriage and two daughters by the second. His first wife died, a divorce dissolved his second marriage and he was married in 1936 to a 38-year-old secretary.

His sons maintain residences in England and The Netherlands. Two of his daughters are in schools at Dresden, Germany, and one was with him here.

CLEMENCY TO SEVEN GRANTED BY LECHE

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Executive clemency was granted today by Governor Richard W. Leche in seven cases.

The orders resulted in the release of two persons from the state penitentiary, the cancellation of the sentence imposed on one and the restoration of citizenship to the three and four additional who have already served their terms.

Full pardons with restorations were given John Durham, serving a life term for murder from Morehouse parish since October 22, 1930 and Tom Daniels, sentenced March 25, 1937, in Livingston to serve a term of from 20 months to five years for possessing marihuana. They are being released from Angola.

A full pardon and restoration was also given Mrs. C. O. Paquet, convicted in Orleans parish for burglary on September 27, 1937, and sentenced to serve from four to twelve months. Mrs. Paquet was never sent to Angola. It was understood here that her case is on appeal.

Restorations were granted to Joseph N. Magee, Jr., who served a term for burglary in Washington parish, Anthony Goggo, who served a term for petty larceny in Orleans parish, Edgar L. Braud, who served a term for embezzlement in Orleans and Desdauir Price who served a term in Iberia parish.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—(AP)—For the first time in more than a year and a half no completions in Louisiana fields were listed in the weekly report of the minerals division of the department of conservation, made public today. A number of wells were on the point of completion, and one or two might have been brought in in the past day or two, without having been reported as yet, it was said.

Seventeen permits were issued for new wells, of which 11 were for operations in south Louisiana fields, including four new wells in southeast Louisiana.

UNLICENSED TAXI OPERATOR FINED

Negro Given $100 Penalty For Picking Up Fares Along
City Bus Routes

In default of payment of a $100 fine, Wash Mitchell, negro, 36, was held in the city jail yesterday afternoon following his conviction in city court on a charge of operating a taxicab without a license or permit, in connection with picking up and discharging of paying passengers along the routes of buses of the municipal bus transportation department.

The court stipulated 100 days in jail as a penalty alternative to the $100 fine.

W. B. Mangham, superintendent of the bus transportation department, swore out the warrant for Mitchell's arrest after receiving complaints from bus drivers that he was picking up paying negro passengers in the morning on DeSiard road and about Washington and North Fourteenth streets, and delivering the passengers to the north side, and also picking up the passengers on the north side in the afternoon and delivering them to the eastern sections of the city.

The negro customarily operated just ahead of buses, picking up passengers who were waiting for the buses, according to reports of bus drivers made to Mr. Mangham. Police Officer H. O. Coates arrested Mitchell while he was performing his work.

The technical charge on which Mitchell was convicted was "operating a taxi without public identity policy."

W. B. MANGHAM GETS LIFE PASS ON I. C.

W. B. Mangham, retired traveling engineer of the Illinois Central railway and superintendent of the municipal bus department, recently received from J. L. Beven, president of the railway, a life-time pass entitling Mr. Mangham and his wife to ride over the I. C. lines to any point along the line, at any time.

The pass, fitted into an attractive leather folder, is known in railroad circles as a gold-letter veteran's service pass.

Mr. Mangham began working for the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railway in 1897. Some years ago this railway was absorbed by the I. C.

In a letter accompanying the pass, Mr. Beven said:

"I think 40 years as a member of the Illinois Central family entitles a fellow to special recognition and as such recognition I am sending you a veteran's service pass for yourself and Mrs. Mangham. The pass is good for use during your lifetime, and I hope both of you will enjoy having it."

Monroe Area Milk Ratings
Announced By Health Department Director

Grades of milk produced in dairies in Monroe and vicinity, as rated by the Ouachita Parish Health unit's recent tests, were announced yesterday by Dr. G. Douglas Williams, director of the unit.

In connection with announcing the grades, Dr. Williams made the following statement:

"The Monroe milk shed (milk producing area) enjoys the distinction of being the only milk shed in the state that has been given an accredited rating by the United States public health service."

"The dairymen of this area are to be complimented on their fine spirit of cooperation with the health department in an effort to improve the quality of the milk supply to the people of the Twin Cities."

"Any dairy or individual not listed and not holding a permit from the health department is not allowed to sell milk to the public and any one caught violating this ordinance will be prosecuted according to law."

"The dairymen who are cooperating with the health department are endeavoring to produce a safe and wholesome product and should certainly receive the patronage of the people of the Twin Cities."

"This milk shed will be re-graded by a federal milk inspector, associated with the United States public health service, some time during the year and the health department and the dairymen are making every effort to retain our accredited rating."

Gradings of milk were announced by Dr. Williams as follows:

"Cooperative dairies, 407 South Grand street, Monroe, grade A pasteurized; G. P. Avant, West Monroe, grade A raw; W. T. Avant and Sons, West Monroe, grade A raw; E. C. Gaskin, West Monroe, grade A raw; Elvin Green, West Monroe, grade A raw; Green Brothers, West Monroe, grade A raw; J. C. Halsell, West Monroe, grade A raw; M. A. Joiner, Calhoun, grade A raw; Lindsey's dairy, West Monroe, grade A raw; L. M. Neal, West Monroe, grade A raw; H. A. Neal, Calhoun, grade A raw; R. R. Piggott, West Monroe, grade A raw; H. R. Robbins, West Monroe, grade A raw; W. W. McDonald and Sons, Monroe, grade A raw; Roselawn dairy, (R. G. Harmon) Monroe, grade A raw; Riser's dairy, West Monroe, grade A raw; O. S. Slocum, Calhoun, grade A raw; Phil Smith, West Monroe, grade A raw; Swayze's dairy, Monroe, grade A raw; A. L. White, West Monroe, grade A raw; L. R. White, West Monroe, grade A raw; Wildwood dairy (Joe Renwick), Monroe, grade A raw; B. A. Willis, West Monroe, grade A raw; M. M. Worthy, West Monroe, grade A raw; A. N. Walters, West Monroe, grade B raw."

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—(Special)—The civil service commission today announced an open competitive examination to fill the position of postmaster at Winnsboro. This is a second class postoffice with the position of postmaster paying an annual salary of $2,500. Applications must be properly executed and filed with the commission in Washington prior to the hour of closing business on February 21.

Ruston Prisoner, With Long Record, Wants New Chance

RUSTON, La., Feb. 4.—(Special)—In jail at Ruston awaiting the sentencing of another link in a chain of entanglements with the law, Perry C. Hackley, 32, a native of Kansas City, Mo., would like to tell his story to somebody who can figure out what ails him and give him the push to start life anew. He doesn't say tritely, "I'm sorry," nor is he trying "to talk anybody out of anything." He does emphasize that he wants to follow a different road as soon as he straightens out his remaining difficulties—and he's sincere about it now, he declares.

Sheriff Bryan Thigpen of Lincoln parish has just brought Hackley to Ruston from the state penitentiary at McAlester, Okla., where he has completed 11 months for writing a bogus check. Hackley is indicted here for the larceny of an automobile a year ago. He is also wanted by federal authorities for parole violation and by the sheriff at Dallas, Tex., on a bad check charge, according to Sheriff Thigpen.

Hackley comes to Ruston with "high recommendations." At the Oklahoma penitentiary, he served as head nurse, participating in numerous surgical operations and gaining experience that has filled him with ambition to become a doctor, he said. When he left McAlester the other day, he had with him letters of praise from high-ranking physicians and other prison officials, who commended his "efficiency and dependability" and stated that "he leaves a vacancy that will be hard to fill."

A visitor at the sheriff's office who had read the letters of recommendation in Hackley's presence remarked, for want of another expression, "That's unusual, isn't it?"

"What's unusual about it?" Hackley asked earnestly. "When a man makes good, is it unusual for someone to pat him on the back? That's what I've been needing all my life but I never did get much of it."

The difference between Hackley's reputation and his character is what makes him "one of the most interesting" prisoners ever confined here, Sheriff Thigpen says.

The man's "reputation" reads like this: In 1928, he was sentenced for three years at Jefferson City, Mo., for embezzlement of an automobile and served 19 months; in 1930, he was sentenced from one to five years for embezzlement at Los Angeles and served three years and four months at Folsom prison; in 1934, for transporting a stolen automobile from Louisville, Ky., to Los Angeles he was sentenced under the Dyer act to the federal prison at McNeill island in Washington, where he served 32 months and

RESOLUTION PASSED ON REV. HUNTSBERRY'S DEATH

The following resolution was passed by a special Kiwanis club committee in West Monroe, on the death of Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, pastor of the First Baptist church there and an active member of the club:

"Whereas, the Giver of all good and perfect gifts has seen fit in His wisdom to remove from this world Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, one of our most esteemed members, and

"Whereas, this body feels that in the passing of Rev. Huntsberry the club, city and community has suffered an irreparable loss, and

"Whereas, it is the desire of all to give evidence of this fact to his wife and family, therefore

"Be it resolved by the members of the Kiwanis club of West Monroe, La., that expressions of sympathy and regret of this body in its own behalf and in behalf of all the people, be and the same is hereby extended to Mrs. E. E. Huntsberry and the members of his family in the loss of her husband and their brother, whose death occurred Friday, January 27.

"Be it further resolved that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, a copy delivered to Mrs. E. E. Huntsberry, a copy be furnished the board of deacons of the First Baptist church and a copy be furnished to the press."

ASSERTS GAMES ARE AID TO PERSONALITY

The Monroe recreation department is deeply interested in the platform of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation of America which aims to promote competition that stresses enjoyment of sport rather than the breaking of records. Indirectly personality is said to be developed as a side issue.

In this connection, attention is called to the article by Henry C. Link in the "Readers' Digest," recently entitled, "Amusements and Personality."

The article in question stated that a recent personality study of 20,000 young cooperated, it was brought out that fun is important in more ways than one. Games are said to exert a major influence in personality development, and personality is what the world seems to be seeking right now.

The article states that concentrating on one or two sports was found less helpful to personality than participating in five or six. In their effect, these are said to contribute more to personality than others: Parties, social dancing, contract bridge, ping pong, pool or billiards. Those games that do not particularly contribute toward personality building are given as checkers, chess, listening to radio programs and similar diversions.

SORE FEET

To His Soldiers Napoleon
Said, "OIL YOUR FEET"

Sore, aching, burning feet probably cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and cursing than most other human ailments.

"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man.

Many a time—overnight—you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating medicated OMEGA OIL.

So don't worry—"Oil your feet" with Omega Oil tonight—walk more briskly and joyfully to work tomorrow—35c at your druggist.—A4L

CIGARETTES AND TOBACCO STOLEN

A case of assorted cigarettes and smoking tobacco was stolen yesterday from a delivery truck of V. Frank Lynn, local wholesale grocer, according to a report to Monroe police.

Police said the case of cigarettes and tobacco was taken from the truck by an unidentified person between 8:20 and 8:30 a.m. while the truck was parked in front of Sandman's pharmacy at 324 DeSiard street. Percy Manning, negro driver of the truck, was making a delivery at the time the theft was believed to have taken place.

According to reports, the case contained 34 cartons of cigarettes and three cartons of smoking tobacco, the value of which was well over $50.

THE NET OF DOOM

LOVINGLY, LINDA BANDAGED THE APE-MAN'S HAND WHILE MARSADA WATCHED WITH BITTER JEALOUSY.

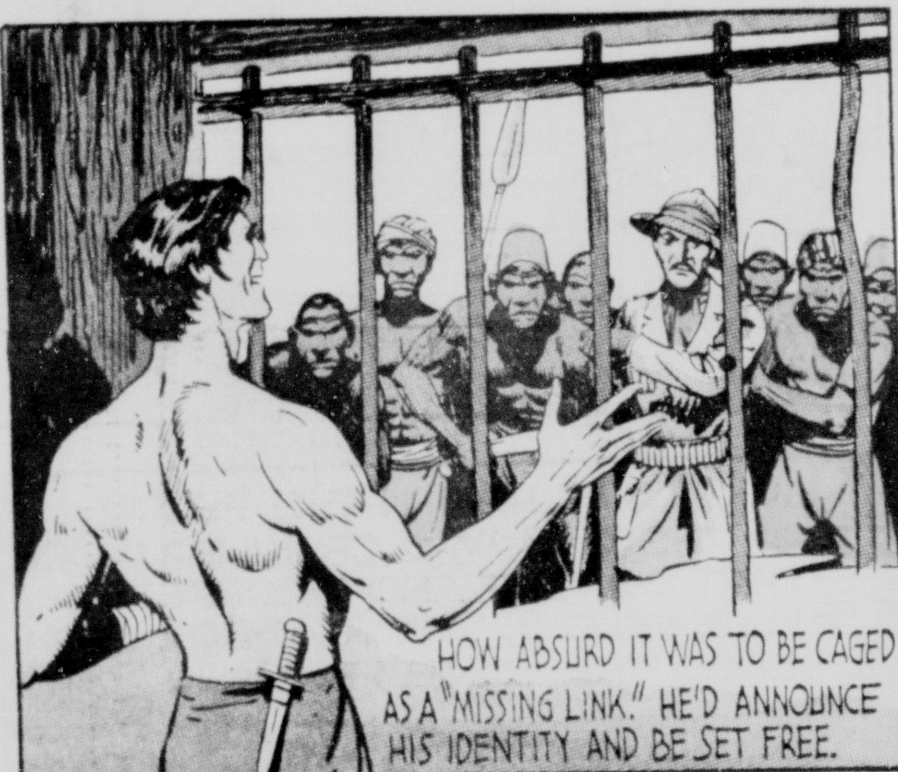

THEN SHE TURNED AND WALKED INTO THE FOREST TO BE ALONE WITH HER TORMENTING THOUGHTS.

SHE TOLD HERSELF HOW FOOLISH IT WAS TO FALL IN LOVE WITH THE BEAST MAN, BUT HER HEART WOULD NOT LISTEN.

MEANWHILE TARZAN WAS RECOVERING FROM HIS DAZE, SLOWLY RECALLING THE RECENT RUSH OF EVENTS. HE SMILED.

HOW ABSURD IT WAS TO BE CAGED AS A "MISSING LINK." HE'D ANNOUNCE HIS IDENTITY AND BE SET FREE.

BUT NO! HE REMEMBERED MARSADA'S HATRED OF TARZAN, WHOM HE HAD NEVER CONSCIOUSLY SEEN. IF MARSADA KNEW-----!

TOWARD DUSK, A NATIVE HUNTER, FAR FROM HOME, ASKED BUTANO'S LEAVE TO PASS THE NIGHT IN THE CAMP.

THEN THE HUNTER'S EYES DRIFTED TO THE CAGE. HIS MOUTH FELL AGAPE IN WONDER.

"WHY DO YOU IMPRISON TARZAN?" HE ASKED. "HE IS THE GUARDIAN OF HIS JUNGLE PEOPLE."

"TARZAN!" GASPED BUTANO. "IS THAT TARZAN?" THE HUNTER NODDED.

HOGARTH—

BUTANO HURRIED AWAY TO GIVE THE STARTLING NEWS TO HIS MASTER.

MARSADA'S ASTONISHED EYES BLAZED WITH A MURDEROUS FIRE. "TONIGHT!" HE MURMURED. NEXT WEEK: HELPLESS!

DICK TRACY

THEY WILL LOCK ME IN MY ROOM, EH - ? THERE!

POP! YOU'RE UNDER ARREST! YOU AND THIS FELLOW WOLLEY ARE CROOKS! WHERE IS WOLLEY AND HIS GANG?

THERE THEY GO! I LOCKED YOU IN YOUR ROOM SO THEY COULD MAKE A GETAWAY!

WHY, YOU OLD CROOK! SO THIS HEALTH FARM IS JUST A FRONT, EH? THIS IS REALLY A HANGOUT FOR JEWEL THIEVES!

YOU'RE WRONG, TRACY! IT IS NOT!

THIS FRAGMENT OF CLOTH, CAUGHT ON A HOOK IN MY ROOM, CAME FROM THE SLEEVE OF YOUR JACKET! IT WAS YOU WHO BURNED MY MOVIE CAMERA AND MY FILMS!

THAT'S CORRECT! I BURNED YOUR FILMS - BUT I'M NOT PART OF THIS RING OF CROOKS.

THAT DOESN'T JIBE WITH MY LOGIC, POP.

MR. TRACY, I WANT YOU TO LOOK AT THIS PHOTOGRAPH -

YEAH? WHAT ABOUT IT?

TRACY FEELS KEY

I WANT YOU TO COMPARE THE PHOTOGRAPH WITH THIS ENLARGEMENT OF A SECTION OF THE MOVIE FILM THAT I CUT OUT BEFORE I SET FIRE TO IT.

WHY! THIS MAN IN THE PHOTO AND THE ONE WHO CRAWLED UNDER THAT CULVERT AND DROPPED THE JEWELS IN THE IRON BOX LOOK LIKE THE SAME PERSON.

THEY ARE THE SAME PERSON! THEY'RE BOTH PICTURES OF MY SON!

YOUR SON? ...BUT POP -

HE HASN'T LIVED AT HOME FOR YEARS. I THOUGHT HE WAS EMPLOYED AS AN ARCHITECT.

ARE YOU POSITIVE?

ABSOLUTELY! I RECOGNIZED HIM WHEN YOU RAN THAT FILM OFF FOR ME TWO WEEKS AGO. BUT A FATHER'S INSTINCT FORCED ME TO TRY TO PROTECT HIM.

YE GODS! HE FENCES FOR A RING OF JEWELRY THIEVES. THEN HE CACHES THE STUFF ON HIS FATHER'S PROPERTY AND THIS WOLLEY GANG PICKS IT UP!

MY SON! BUT HE'S GOT TO BE CAUGHT! -AND I--I'M THE ONE WHO MUST CATCH HIM!

"HEY, SKIPPER!"

"WELL, A FARE'S A FARE! I BETTER WAIT FOR THIS ONE EVEN IF I DO LOSE SOME OFF THE TRAIN!"

"WHY DON'T YOU GET ON AND LIGHT YER PIPE AFTERWARDS?"

"I DON'T WANTA RIDE! I JUST WANTED TO USE THE CAR AS A WINDBREAK..."

"...TO LIGHT MY PIPE! I HOPE YOU AREN'T OFFENDED!"

"OH, NO OFFENSE! FOLKS ARE DOING THINGS LIKE THAT TO ME ALL THE TIME!"

"FACT IS, IT'S WELL YOU STOPPED ME 'COS I WAS FORGETTIN' I HAFTA WALK OVER TO THAT HOUSE TO DELIVER A BOTTLE OF MEDICINE!"

"YOU AIN'T USIN' THIS CANE AND I'M SORTER LAME SO I WONDER IF YOU'D LET ME HAVE IT 'TIL WE REACH THAT HOUSE?"

"A WINDBREAK!"

"I DIDN'T REALLY WANTA WALK OVER TO THAT HOUSE. I JUST WANTED TO USE YOUR HEAD AS A CANE-BREAK!"
